Legionnaires Demand Immediate Payment Of Bonus

RESOLUTION PASSED BY COMMITTEE

Controversial Issue Will Reach Floor of Convention Late Tomorrow
PRESIDENT WRITES
Chief Executive in Letter Says National Welfare Paramount in Country

BULLETIN
MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 24.—(UP)—The Columbus, Ohio, American Legion band captured the Legion national band championship here today. The San Jose, Calif., band was awarded third place.

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 24.—(UP)—The American Legion legislative committee today passed a resolution demanding immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus.

The text of the resolution was made public at the national convention here. The controversial issue will reach the convention floor late today or early tomorrow.

The resolution reads: "Whereas, the immediate cash payment of the adjusted service certificates will increase tremendously the purchasing power of millions of the consuming public, distributed uniformly throughout the nation; and will provide relief for the holders thereof who are in dire need and distress because of the present unfortunate economic conditions; and will lighten immeasurably the burden which cities, counties and states are now required to carry for relief; and

"Whereas, the payment of said certificates will not create an additional debt, but will discharge and retire an acknowledged contract obligation of the government;

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, that since the government of the United States is now definitely committed to the policy of spending additional sums of money for the purpose of hastening recovery from the present economic crisis, the American Legion recommends the immediate cash payment at face value of the adjusted service certificates, with cancellation of interest accrued and refund of interest paid, as a most effective means to that end."

The action of the committee was learned while the national commander was reading a letter from President Roosevelt, urging that the Legion remember that "our national welfare is paramount."

After expressing regret over inability to attend the convention, the president wrote: "While I realize your interests are in many directions, our national welfare is paramount. I urge you to carry such a spirit into your convention. Your country expects this of you and I am confident it will not be disappointed."

The president did not mention the bonus in his communication. The action of the sub-committee is not binding upon the convention.

The report of the legislative committee is second from the last order of business and may not be reached until late this afternoon or possibly tomorrow.

Streamline Train Reaches Chicago And Sets Record
CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—(UP)—The Union Pacific's record-breaking streamliner sped into Chicago today, shattering a 29-year-old record for passenger train runs between Los Angeles and Chicago.

The bullet-nosed train passed the Kedzie avenue station and glided into the heart of the city at 2:29 p. m. (CST).

Gliding into the La Salle street station at 2:50 p. m. (CST), the streamliner completed its run between the California city and Chicago in 38 hours 50 minutes and clipped six hours, four minutes from the old record.

The arrival in Chicago was 29 minutes ahead of the train's own schedule.

The train left for New York at 3:29 p. m. (CST).

HAUPTMANN ENTERS PLEA OF 'NOT GUILTY': TRIAL JAN. 2

JONES IN PLEA TO BANKERS TO LEAD RECOVERY

RFC Chairman Addresses Nation's Bankers at Annual Conclave

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—(UP)—Chairman Jessie Jones of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation today assured the American Bankers association that dangers to banks were past and called upon them to lead the way to recovery.

Jones' speech, couched in more friendly terms than he used in an address to the group a year ago, emphasized the necessity for increasing the flow of bank funds into business channels and suggested widespread liberalization of credit policies.

He promised full cooperation of government agencies in carrying out this policy, including that of bank examiners.

The remarks by Jones served as a prelude to the address which President Roosevelt will make to the bankers tonight. It carried forward the increased friendliness manifest in relations of bankers and the administration since the outset of the gathering.

"There is no longer danger of bank withdrawals," said Jones. "Of anything else befalling banks that will prevent them from taking the lead in rebuilding the business of the country and the general morale of their debtors."

Jones credited bankers generally with a desire to expand their loans and admitted the government's bank examination policy was partially responsible for continued emphasis on liquid condition.

"It is necessary that we reorganize or reform bank examinations," he said, "and bank supervision. One examination a year should be enough for a well-managed bank with ample capital to protect its deposits."

He suggested that a joint examination for all government agencies interested in banks might be adopted.

"Bank examinations could very properly be made on a basis of soundness and solvency, rather than on much liquidity," he said. "Bankers will not willingly make loans that they know from experience are likely to be criticized."

Jones emphasized his belief that "we go partners with the president in his recovery program."

"I hope that is apparent," he said. "Another statement which has often been repeated is still appropriate—that there can be no sustained prosperity and no return to normal conditions without actual bank lending for all legitimate purposes—even stimulated lending."

People, said Jones, read that banks want to lend money but find actually that they are willing to lend only on collateral that few possess.

"Counteracting in large measure," he said, "any willingness to make new loans is the fact that most banks are still trying to collect."

Rumors that such a central bank might be established have circulated in financial circles for months. Several speakers at the American banking association's convention have recognized the question by denying any such financial program.

Central banks, in charge of all banking transactions and most fiscal affairs, now operate in a number of European countries.

That's a Big Relief To Say the Least

REVAL, Esthonia, Oct. 24.—(UP)—Persons condemned to death in Esthonia in future will be given the option of committing suicide by taking poison.

The innovation was published today in a decree of the state president regulating executions and court verdicts.

The decree makes the following provisions: One hour before the scheduled time of the execution, the condemned shall be taken to a death cell, where the state prosecutor will read the death sentence and ask the prisoner whether he is willing to commit suicide.

AUSTRALIAN TO HOP FROM FIJI ISLANDS TODAY

First Attempt to Get Off Yesterday is Failure; Honolulu Next

NASELAI BEACH, Fiji Islands, Thursday, Oct. 25.—(UP)—Balked in his original efforts to lift his heavily-loaded monoplane from the sandy beach here, Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith planned a new effort today to leave the Fiji Islands for Honolulu on his trans-Pacific flight, a hop of 2750 miles.

If wind and weather conditions are favorable, the Australian flier and his navigator, Capt. P. G. Taylor, hope to get "the Lady Southern Cross" into the air at 1 p. m. today. (5:30 p. m. Wednesday, PST.) They plan to fly from Honolulu to California to complete the flight.

Wet sand and an unfavorable wind blocked their first attempt yesterday afternoon. After loading 500 gallons of gasoline and making certain that the radio equipment was operating, Commander Kingsford-Smith warmed up the 500-horsepower motor on his low wing Lockheed Altair and gave it the gun.

The plane shot down the sandy runway at terrific speed. It ran for 320 yards without rising. Then the wet sand and the wind turned it into the shallow surf. It was headed out to sea, its wheels on the ground, when Kingsford-Smith kicked the rudder and turned the plane inshore.

He coasted to a halt on the beach and hopped out to examine the plane. So far as he could determine it had not been damaged.

The Australian ace and his companion waited for a while hoping that the wind would change. Finally they covered the Vasp motor with a tarpaulin and left the plane under guard until today's attempt.

They came here yesterday from Albert Park, in Suva, where they had landed Sunday after flying from Brisbane, Australia, the first leg of their flight of more than 7000 miles.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—(UP)—The navy is attempting to establish a new speed record in moving the fleet through the Panama canal today, officials said.

They added that they hoped to better the mark of 47 hours set last summer when the fleet moved in the other direction from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

They refused to comment upon reports that the fleet was being returned to the Pacific ahead of the Nov. 1 schedule, pointing out that the movement through the canal was part of the regular maneuvers. They said the fleet would arrive at San Pedro Nov. 23.

Deny State Appeal For Early Trial

Kidnap Suspect Brought to Court Under Guard of Many Officers

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Oct. 24.—(UP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, Bronx carpenter, will go on trial January 2, 1935, charged with the murder of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's infant son, who was kidnapped from the Lindbergh home at Hopewell in 1932.

Hauptmann earlier pleaded not guilty when arraigned.

Justice Thomas W. Trenchard of the New Jersey supreme court, granted the delay in response to an appeal for time by Attorney James M. Fawcett, chief defense counsel.

The state, represented by Attorney General David Wilentz, had asked for an early trial, and sought to rush the case before a jury next month.

Neither side desired a "Christmas holiday" trial, and had the trial been postponed until December 11, as first requested by Fawcett, it would have dragged through until the holidays.

Hauptmann entered a formal plea of "not guilty" through his counsel.

The defendant, sullen and nervous, was brought under heavy guard from his cell in the model jail back of the court house.

His wife, Anna, who has stoutly asserted her husband's innocence, occupied a seat inside the rail with Hauptmann's attorney, James M. Fawcett.

Justice Thomas W. Trenchard of the New Jersey supreme court, presided at the arraignment, with Common Pleas Judge A. O. Robinson. It was Trenchard's duty to fix the date of trial, after Hauptmann's plea, through counsel, of not guilty.

THREE LOSE LIVES IN MISSOURI STORM

MARYSVILLE, Mo., Oct. 24.—(UP)—Three dead, one missing, a score injured and property damage estimated at $400,000 was the toll of a tornado that swept through this town late yesterday.

The twister swept in at the south edge of the town and cut across it in a northwesterly direction. It hit hardest in the vicinity of a CCC camp, where six buildings were destroyed. In one building partially demolished were 600 sticks of dynamite. They did not explode.

The dead were Guy Allen of Shelbyville, Mo.; Ralph Hare of St. Louis and Hugh Newton of Pattonsburg, Mo.

Harvey Drake of Kansas City, a member of the CCC camp, still was missing today. Lieut. Thomas Taylor, commandant of the camp, said he feared Drake's body was buried beneath the timber and wreckage.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—(UP)—Gov. Frank F. Merriam of California, was leading Upton Sinclair by more than two to one in the first returns of the Literary Digest's poll of the state, the Digest announced today.

In a total of 18,854 ballots received from six different cities of California Merriam received 11,262 and Sinclair 5198, the remainder going to the other three candidates.

ROOSEVELT DENIES MAKING PROMISE TO SINCLAIR, WHO CLAIMS HE WAS MISQUOTED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—(UP)—President Roosevelt denied today that he had promised Upton Sinclair, Democratic candidate for Governor, that he would make a statement of any kind during the California campaign.

Dispatches from California quoted Sinclair today as having said with respect to President Roosevelt: "He said he would issue a statement on certain public policies and if he doesn't change his mind and says what he told me he would... I can tell you I shall be your next governor."

Sinclair also was quoted as having said he had telegraphed Mr. Roosevelt that west coast newspapers had misquoted him with respect to his expectations of an administration statement.

Mr. Roosevelt, in his press conference, said today he knew nothing about such a telegram but was informed immediately by one of his secretaries that it had been received.

The president said he had not seen the telegram.

Mr. Roosevelt was informed of Sinclair's belief that if the president made a statement with respect to certain public policies, the Democratic candidate would be elected governor in California.

Reference was made to the reference vague but thought it might refer to the Central Valley (Continued on Page 8)

NAVAL PARITY DISCUSSED BY U. S. DELEGATE

LONDON, Oct. 24.—(UP)—Naval equality and security, desirable in principle, must be arranged in fact according to varying nations, Norman H. Davis, chief American disarmament delegate was reported to have told Japanese delegates today in the first of a series of disarmament conferences.

The Japanese delegates were understood to have outlined to the Americans, loosely, their demand for naval equality and their desire for global tonnage limitation arrangements under which Japan could build any sort of ships, or any size, within a total tonnage allowance.

Davis was said to have replied that the United States was interested in the substance, rather than the form, of any naval understanding.

Japan was expected to outline specific naval proposals to a British delegation Friday and to amplify them to the Americans early next week. The Americans were due to meet the British in the middle of next week.

Japanese Ambassador Tamao Matsudaira told the Americans that Japan had established a new theory on which naval limitation could be fixed. His implication was the expected claim for recognition in principle of the right of naval equality.

He was said to have outlined by Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto. The outlines were similar to those made by the Japanese to a British delegation yesterday.

The British seemed willing to concede the Japanese the right of equality, providing they did not exercise it to build a navy equal to those of the United States and Great Britain.

But it was said authoritatively that the American view was that the existing naval strength, as laid down in the Washington limitation treaty, actually established relative equality and security.

The Washington treaty limits Japan to three tons in capital ships to every five tons for America and Britain.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—(UP)—Battered by a South Pacific typhoon the oil tanker Larry Doherty was reported today making her way slowly under her own power to Guam for inspection and temporary repairs.

Messages direct from the ship to Radiomarine Corporation have brought word of the safety of the ship and its crew of 41 after harrowing experiences with a terrific storm.

The winds carried part of the bridge away, made the steering gear useless and disabled the steam and electric generating plants. For a time it was feared the tanker would sink and carry all aboard to their deaths, for rescue ships, answering the SOS flashed yesterday morning, were more than a day's distance away when help was asked.

BUSINESS UP 30 PER CENT IN ONE YEAR

Survey Shows Increase in Practically Every Line With Deposits Growing

UTILITIES SHOW GAIN
One Auto Dealer in S. A. Shows Increase of 80 Percent Over Year Ago

BY KENNETH ADAMS
CONSISTENT reports of definitely improved business conditions in Santa Ana combined with statistics obtained in a check made by The Register and Orange County today showed the entire Pacific Coast in recovery from the depression, the general gain in business in this section averaging about 30 per cent over last year as compared with eight per cent for the average in the balance of the Pacific Coast area.

Some of the increases reported by local business men were astounding. One of the most prominent automobile dealers reported a gain of 80 per cent in business over last year. An influential clothier reported an increase of 60 per cent.

A large furniture dealer reported business 30 per cent over last year. Food markets reported recent months the best in their history. A pioneer and prominent dry goods store reported at least 20 per cent increase. Women's clothing shops reported substantial gains. Lumber and building material dealers reported not only an increase in business but a more definite spirit on the part of the public to buy. Chain stores reported big gains.

But the reports from merchants on gains in business were not the only factors in a definite improvement here which has outstripped the average eight per cent for the Pacific Coast as reported by the Federal Reserve bank.

Utilities Gain
The Southern California Edison company reported the first gains in four years in total power consumption. Rodney B. Bacon, district manager, said:

FIANCE OF M'ADOO GIRL IS SPANISH

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 24.—(UP)—The motion picture romance of Ellen Wilson McAdoo, daughter of U. S. Sen. William Gibbs McAdoo, and grand-daughter of the nation's wartime president, today appeared to be cleared of racial barriers when her fiancé produced evidence he was of Spanish and not Filipino blood.

California laws prohibit the intermarriage of persons of the Caucasian and Malay races.

Born in the Philippines, Rafael Lopez De Olate, who appeared with Miss McAdoo in Riverside to file an application for a marriage license, slapped down a packet of papers. They were replete with Seals.

They showed, De Olate said, his racial origin and his birth as a citizen of the United States.

SIX MAKE ESCAPE FROM JAIL CELLS

HOLDENVILLE, Okla., Oct. 24.—(UP)—Four men and two women escaped a jailer, escaped from the Hughes county jail and fled in two commandeered automobiles today.

It was believed one group still had as hostages two Holdenville men from whom they took a car. Deputy Jim Sickles was clubbed with a piece of gas pipe and robbed of his keys. The prisoners had a gun but did not use it in the escape.

The jail is atop the courthouse and the prisoners had to descend through that building.

All held on burglary or robbery counts. One was accused of an attack on a deputy sheriff and had pleaded guilty yesterday.

The fugitives were Bill Johnson, Ambrose Nix, Arthur Gooch, Henry Grand, Maudie Lawson and Myrtle Kendig.

MEN NAMED TO WORK TOMATO PRORATE PLAN

Appointment of a control committee to take charge of a tomato prorate now set up for Southern California tomato growers for marketing of pink and ripe tomatoes was announced today.

Ralph Mitchell, of Irvine, represents Orange county on the control board. Other members include: E. W. Soper, San Bernardino; H. Takado, San Fernando; Frank Steison, Ventura; A. Takahashi, Los Angeles market; and W. E. Beach, representing the canners.

The prorate is designed to keep surplus tomatoes off the market, thereby saving tomato growers loss through sales not only of the surplus but of all their tomatoes, at ruinously low prices, Mitchell said.

The control board has appointed a zone agent, B. H. Shepley, and K. Kato, assistant field agent. Growers wishing to move pink or ripe tomatoes to market must apply to the agent in their territory for a primary certificate for which there is a charge of 35 cents per acre. The prorate for the present will be applied on weekly periods and field agents will be required at intervals to estimate the volume available for shipment during the following week by each grower in his district.

Market agents will be available to issue certificates from 11 to 12 p. m. on market evenings at room 207 Produce building, 1057 South San Pedro street, Los Angeles, and at the office of the Nippon California Farmers' association, 234 Wholesale Terminal building, Los Angeles, on Saturday of each week for the movement of the following week.

Mitchell pointed out that the prorate act provides that any person who violates any provision of the act or who willfully renders or furnishes a false or fraudulent report, statement or record, is guilty of a misdemeanor and each infraction shall constitute a separate offense. Violators can be prosecuted under misdemeanor complaints issued civilly for $500 penalty for each violation, enforced from such violations or proceeded against under all these headings, he said.

Reports appearing in papers this week announcing the prorate, saying that the Orange County Farm Bureau has been instrumental in working out the Southern California Tomato Prorate agreement, were misleading, R. D. Fishery, secretary, said. He made the following statement regarding the matter:

"Our vegetable department has for the past two years worked hard to stabilize tomato prices. Last year we were successful in getting an advance from canneries which meant an increased return of many thousands of dollars to our growers. This year different conditions prevailed and the cannery price was reduced far below cost of production. Our leaders worked to secure a state-wide tomato prorate covering all tomatoes shipped to the east, to local markets and canneries. At meetings of Orange county American growers it was unanimously decided that while a state-wide California prorate would be a desirable plan, a Southern California program had many features which would likely operate against the interest of growers in Orange county. Because of these facts the Orange

WILL ROGERS says:
SONORA, Oct. 24.—(To the Editor of The Register:) By golly, you got to hand it to those flying Englishmen, they run express and cut out all the local stops. They must have been in great physical shape for it. That's where Wiley Post would have shined, he never sleeps till he gets back to Oklahoma. And they must have had a real plane, flying a two-motored plane on one motor is what they all advertise, but few do. I picked the Dutch in our Douglas, but they seem to be laying back waiting for something to happen to the Englishmen. It did, they won. Turner and Pangborn did a great job, third in that race was some accomplishment. Watch my good friend Brisbane this very morning. He will have Japan flying into California for lunch.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

CHURCH MEMBERS ATTEND CONFERENCE

Twelve Santa Ana members of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, will be in Fresno tonight for the opening of the Pacific Annual Conference of the church, which is under the direction of Bishop James Cannon Jr.

Those attending from this city are the Rev. and Mrs. C. M. Aker, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Potter, Mr. and Mrs. John Sebastian, Mrs. George Preble, Mrs. Allie Ward and the Misses Alice Upson and Margaret Goodwin.

The Rev. Mr. Aker, concluding the fourth year of his pastorate here, will report an increase of over 50 members in his church during the past year, and a surplus of more than $100 in the church treasury to begin the conference year.

The mid-week prayer meeting at the Santa Ana church tonight will be in charge of the Wesley Fellowship, with President Leon C. Elliott presiding. The program by the Fellowship group will open at 7:30 o'clock.

Suicide Attempt Is Frustrated By Relief Measures

Swallowing strychnine and grain treated with squirrel poison nearly proved fatal last evening for John Buchheim, 62, El Toro rancher, who was given first aid treatment at his home by a San Juan Capistrano physician and then rushed to the Orange County hospital by deputy sheriffs.

Buchheim told Officers John Ryan and James Ragan that he took the strychnine poison about 3 p. m. and the squirrel poison an hour later. Members of his family found him at 5 o'clock in the granary, where he spent much of his time, and called authorities. At the hospital, a stomach pump was used to remove the poisons.

This is the second time Buchheim has attempted to take his life, it was reported.

County Farm bureau took no part in the circulation of petitions for the Southern California prorate, nor any other matter connected with it. Our leaders question its soundness, especially leaving out Imperial county, whose canneries tomatoes last spring helped to ruin the Orange county cannery price. Any tomato prorate plan which does not include market as well as cannery tomatoes cannot help but penalize many growers, according to the opinion of our leaders.

district manager, said that the increase was most significant because it has been found that residential consumers are not stinting on use of power to keep light bills down as they have been, and that more and more merchants throughout the county are lighting their windows at night while not long ago most of the stores were dark. In spite of the reduction in use of power by cities, a definite increase now shows on books at the Edison company.

Along the same lines and showing the same trend, the Southern California Telephone company reported gains for the first time in several years. Losses in unit service were prevalent last year, but now the losses have turned to gains, according to Earl S. Morrow, district manager.

Prominent merchants contacted had various factors to which they attributed the complete revision in business conditions recently. Most of them believed that the upturn was a normal reaction from the effects of the earthquake and depression. Keen-sighted business men all reported that Orange county was forging ahead of other sections in recovering from the depression.

Increased returns to ranchers for oranges and other agricultural products was cited by many business men as a most important factor in the general improvement. The merchants were divided as to whether government spending on relief programs was an important factor in the improvement.

On the basis of present average returns of $2.81 on oranges, Dr. D. D. Waynick of the Association Laboratory, Anaheim, estimated today that gross returns in the county this season will aggregate $24,685,000. Dr. Waynick estimated that around $5,000,000 more will be received for oranges sold from this county this year than last year. This increase cannot help but stimulate local business.

Stanley Goode, president of the Santa Ana Realty Board, reported that there is a distinct improvement in real estate sales and rentals over last year. He pointed to increased inquiries and sales to explain the situation, and also called attention to the fact that there are but few houses of the better type now for rent in Santa Ana.

Building and loan groups reported increased activity. A stronger rental market with increased interest in purchases of property was reported, with the conditions reflected in more interest in building than before, although people yet are not minded to start much active construction work.

Credit Demands.
Continued greater demands for credit service and in inquiries from the Business Men's Association was reported by Manager Phil M. Brown, who announced it has been necessary to add another full-time girl to the staff, now employing five operators. New equipment also has been added to care for increased credit demands. Volume of inquiries has held up better than last year, rating about 25 per cent above the figures of a year ago. Brown said this means more people who are working now feel themselves in a position to buy, where before they have held off. Collections, he said, also are much better than last year.

In spite of those merchants who are doubtful regarding the effect of government relief money distributed in the county, others held that the expenditure of $239,481 for wages in work relief and administrative salaries in SERRA in the county, and including direct relief monies, could not help but stimulate business. There are now 1800 persons being given work through SERRA in the county, Director Terrance Halloran announced today, and Orange county has been guaranteed by the state $100,000 a month for relief work should that much be necessary.

From local banks came most optimistic reports, the highlight being a report of an aggregate increase of more than $2,000,000 in bank deposits at the three local banks since the first of the year. One bank reported $3,000,000 in cash on hand and anticipated that deposits would go up another million dollars before the year is ended. Banks also reported increases in currency received for payrolls.

Postal Receipts.
Another favorable indication of improvement was a report from Assistant Postmaster Flake Smith, who announced that for the quarter just ended postoffice receipts here aggregated $35,694.78 as compared with $34,692.11 for the previous quarter, or a gain of $1002.67 for the period. The gain for the last quarter over the same quarter last year was $1110.64.

Some cause for the better feeling among ranchers in the county was found to lie in the fact that Orange county farmers have been loaned a total of $3,764,660 in federal land bank advances, $7 Federal Land Bank loans amounting to $333,200, 151 Federal Land Bank Commissioner loans aggregating $492,150 and 254 combined Land Bank and Commissioner loans amounting to $2,887,700. Owners of homes in Orange county have been relieved considerably and given cash to increase trade activity through the Home Owners Loan corporation. Ben Blee, preliminary appraiser for the HOLC in this county, announced that as of October 1, 1934, total loans in the county amounted to $1,479,588.92, or an average of $2205.05 per loan.

Blee reported that the month of September was the highest month to date with 146 loans for a total of $223,899.97. He announced that Harvey Harris, district manager of HOLC in Los Angeles, reported more than 300 loans now in escrow with the three title companies in Orange county for these loans and others will be completed before the end of the year, insuring the completion of more than 1000 loans in the county before the end of 1934.

From the beginning of active HOLC activity in Orange county up to the present date, there have been more than 2000 applications from home owners in the county for these loans. Applications continue to be received from Orange county at the rate of about 100 per month.

EXCHANGE HEADS TO SPEAK AT FRUIT GROWERS MEETING

Paul S. Armstrong, general manager of the California Fruit Growers exchange, and T. H. Powell, general sales manager, of the same organization, will be speakers at a meeting of growers of this district at a meeting to be held Thursday, at 7:30 p. m. at the Orange Union High school auditorium, according to an announcement made by C. E. Skiles, manager of the Orange County Fruit exchange.

Both officials have returned recently from a tour of eastern markets and will report what they learned of citrus markets and general business conditions on the trip. Fruit markets both from the standpoint of the present and the future will be discussed it is expected.

The meeting is open to all fruit growers regardless of their market affiliations.

Worker Group Is Organized To Aid Merriam Cause

LOWELL
Election of a president was chief event of interest at Monday night's meeting of the Lowell P. T. A. executive board with Mrs. George Farren, 609 South Parton street.

Mrs. R. W. Wipps was elected president, and Mrs. George Ames and Mrs. Farren, as first and second vice presidents. Plans for association activities were made. The latest general meeting of the Lowell group was held in the school kindergarten, with Mrs. Farren acting as president, and sixth grade mothers as hostesses. Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools, talked on kindergartens, and small children of the school sang "The Moon and Her Child." "The Anvil Chorus" and other numbers.

Board members sharing Mrs. Farren's hospitality at the subsequent board meeting were Mesdames R. F. Wipps, George Ames, Walter May, program chairman; H. Ransom, study circle chairman; H. Hunt, motion picture chairman, and C. F. DuFall, secretary. Refreshments were served to conclude the evening.

LOCATION OF SCHOOL SHOP IS CHANGED

Approving a proposal to change the location of the new Lathrop shop building, at an additional cost of $1550.54 above the figure of the original contract, Santa Ana board of education last night acted to conserve the rather limited playground space at the Lathrop site.

Original plans to erect the new shop near the center of the grounds were changed to a new site, south of the main building, just behind the present garage-shop. Space was reserved between the shop site and the present main building, sufficient to accommodate an auditorium.

Discussion of construction of two new tennis courts at Lathrop, to cost approximately $2000, ended without action, the matter being postponed to a later meeting. The board last night declined to approve a bill of $600, presented to the State Board of Public Building Reconstruction, for conducting a series of bearing tests upon the Edison, Lathrop and Spurgeon grounds, as preliminaries to reconstruction of these schools.

It would not approve the bills, because the tests had not been made at spots he selected. However, he added, the state board probably would pay the bill anyway, as approval of the local board was not necessary. Board members said that if the architect would not approve the bill, the board should not do so. LaBarre and Converse, testing engineers, presented the bill.

Appoint Inspector.
O. T. Moore was approved as inspector for the Spurgeon school reconstruction job, having been appointed by the State Division of Architecture.

The board approved the contract with Willena Bell, employed in physical education office; also the contract with Rose E. Lesh, as cafeteria manager, at a salary of $100 per month.

The cafeteria report covering September 17 to September 30, during which times the principals managed the cafeterias in their respective schools, high school and both junior high schools, showed that each of the three cafeterias returned a profit; aggregating $75.93. This was divided as follows: high school $35.33; Lathrop $15.07; Willard $25.53.

A report from W. W. Wieman, sponsoring SERRA educational projects for the board, showed that five out of six projects are under way, employing about 60 persons. A total of 71 employees is permitted under these projects, which include general adult education, nursery school, Americanization, vocational instruction, music and historical survey. The vocational project is not yet under way.

Authorize Contest.
The board last night authorized a landscape contest among junior college students, appropriating $10 for the purchase of the winning plan of landscaping for college hall grounds on North Main street. The plans were limited to expenditure of $200 for materials.

Superintendent Frank Henderson reported that he had refused permission for a speaker to appear before the evening high schools to oppose the adoption of certain amendments at the November election.

Henderson reported that an invitation has been received for entry of a Santa Ana school float in the Armistice day parade at Huntington Beach. Only two schools, Huntington Beach and Anaheim, have signified their intention to enter floats, Henderson said. No action was taken. The superintendent also called attention to the fact that Armistice day is a school holiday under the schedule adopted, as presented by County School Superintendent Ray Adkinson, although that date is not a state school holiday.

Dr. Margaret Baker and W. M. Burke favored eliminating this holiday for the schools. "Why be reminded of war every year?" Dr. Baker queried. "Let us keep our children in school."

Other members of the board expressed fear that the action might be regarded as unpatriotic, and suggested waiting another year before deciding the question, since the holiday already is scheduled. The schedule was not changed.

Requests Received.
Frank Bettis, president of the Santa Ana Tennis club, appeared before the board to suggest that means be taken to surface the gravel area adjacent to the Willard tennis courts, because dirt and grit is being blown across the tennis courts and is wearing away the surface. Secretary-Business Manager George Newcom was instructed to get estimates of the cost of oil treatment of the area in question, which is used as a driveway.

Mrs. Paul Ragan, spokesman for a committee from Woodrow Wilson school patrons, presented plans and estimates for a pergola, which she requested be constructed at Wilson school, to be used by children at their lunch hours. Her estimate was $79 each, and two were needed at the school, she said. They would accommodate 100 pupils at a time, there being that many or more who now take their lunches.

At present, she said, the children must eat their lunches in the school rooms, under necessity of being quiet, and without the fresh air that the outdoor pergolas would provide. It would save the time of teachers, also, she pointed out.

The board took no action, discussing the matter of precedent and the probability of immediate requests for such pergolas from every other school, if one was so supplied.

Talk Given By Nathan Hale At Republican Rally

"Upton Sinclair did a good job of writing bad books; he is adept at destroying those American ideals and institutions we Americans believe in; he is anti-religious; he loves to tear down and destroy," was the summary of the Democratic nominee for governor presented by Nathan Hale, ex-congressman from Tennessee, a former Republican national committeeman, who spoke Monday evening before the Republican rally at Willard school auditorium, where he urged the election of Frank F. Merriam as governor.

James M. Anderson, asked by Chairman J. C. Metzgar for his view of the results that would follow Sinclair's election, said that there was but one major issue—whether the people of California want to jump headlong into a socialist state.

Charles Van Wyck, Santa Ana rancher, and Everett A. White, former president of the California Real Estate Association, urged the election of Merriam.

Local Briefs.
Dr. Fred N. Willis will be in charge of the prayer meeting at the First M. E. church at 7:30 o'clock tonight, it was announced today by Dr. George A. Warner, pastor.

Dean Hyatt, former Santa Ana boy now residing in Eagle Rock and attending Occidental college, has pledged Kappa Sigma fraternity, according to word received from the college today. He is a senior at the Los Angeles institution.

JONES IN PLEA TO BANKERS TO LEAD RECOVERY

lect the slow loans with which they were caught at the beginning of the depression, even though, in many instances, interest is being currently paid and periodical reductions made.

"A continuation of forced liquidation will put the government further into the lending business," he declared the RFC only wanted to make loans where other credit was unavailable and solicited the cooperation of banks to that end.

Jones suggested further decentralization of credit control. "There is still a great deal of concentrated power," he said, "and congress might look further into the question of interlocking directors and control by influence." He also advocated limiting bank deposits to eight times the amount of sound capital and urged bankers to replenish capital where needed promptly.

The two big problems still confronting the RFC, he said, are further assistance to railroads and reestablishment of a national market for sound real estate mortgages. He asked cooperation of banks in solving the mortgage situation.

He was the husband of Mary Jane Crawford, who died some time ago. He is survived by the following children: Ernest W. Crawford of Tustin, Mrs. H. C. Wiley of Santa Ana, Elmer Crawford of Laguna Beach, Mrs. Ed Johnson of Orange, William D. Crawford of Grants Pass, Oregon, and Dale Crawford, of Tustin.

REGISTRATION BY CITIES IS GIVEN BY BACKS

Santa Ana's registered vote has increased 555 since the August primary election, and now totals 18,930. It was shown today when County Clerk J. M. Backs issued a list of registration totals in various cities and towns of the county.

Every city in the county made gains in registration following the primary, with the exception of Placentia, which showed a decrease of 18 voters.

A brisk demand for absent voter ballots was reported today by Backs, who said that 54 such ballots already have been cast in his office and 121 have been mailed to voters who requested them.

The registration by cities follows:

ADVANTAGES OF DIESEL ENGINE TOLD AT CLUB

Visioning a vast expansion of the use of Diesel engines in operating municipal lighting plants to save huge amounts of money for taxpayers and in transportation of all kinds, Ferris Scott spoke to members of the Santa Ana Rotary club yesterday afternoon in James' cafe.

The speaker, introduced by Wendell Finley, who acted as program chairman of the day, told his listeners that Diesel engines would affect the economic life of this state because transportation costs are only one-tenth as much using Diesel power as with gasoline motor power.

Diesel fuel, he said, costs less for a gallon than the tax on gasoline at the present time, and it is possible to get twice as much mileage on the Diesel fuel as with gasoline. It has been predicted, he said, that Diesel engines in trains will replace all steam-powered locomotives and that railroad companies will be able to offer transportation at one cent a mile.

He said a department of commerce official has stated that within 10 years use of Diesel motors in airplane commercial travel would be mandatory because of the economic and safety feature. A Diesel-powered plane, he said, cannot explode because it has no ignition system and the fuel is non-explosive.

The speaker traced the history of the Diesel motor, stating that it was discovered 41 years ago by Dr. Diesel and at first operated on coal dust and air. Present Diesel motors, he said, will operate on most any type of fuel, including sugar, peanut oil, coconut oil, sorghum molasses, buttermilk and even whiskey, although the standard Diesel fuel is more satisfactory.

"The Diesel motor," Scott declared, "has no spark plugs, no carburetor and no ignition system. It operates on the principle that compressed air becomes hot, then the fuel is injected, which burns, expanding the air and driving the pistons for propelling power. Power is more even than with explosive gasoline motors."

"If the price of Diesel fuel would be raised comparable to gasoline; if oil companies ever charge exorbitant prices for fuel, they had better look out, for Diesel fuel is not dependent on the oil industry."

The speaker quoted many tests made and experiments conducted to show the value of Diesel motors recently. He said 600 cities are using electric power generated through Diesel motors, one of them, a three and a half million dollar plant at Vernon, California, paying for itself in a 10-year period. He said the city of Norman, Okla., makes enough charging ordinary rates for power, so that no city taxes are necessary to run the city government.

Court Notes

Suit to foreclose a mortgage of $5290.84 was filed yesterday in superior court by W. A. Wheeler and Ella E. Wheeler, through Attorney Thomas E. Pickrell, against Robert M. Woodworth and other defendants. The mortgage covers property at Garden Grove.

gavel to the new president at the close of the meeting. Hansenjaeger resigned from the Santa Ana city council several months ago but was urged by the league to retain his presidency until the regular election. Other officers are Mayor L. A. Hogue of Brea, vice-president, and Albert Launer.

Mayor Charles Mann of Anaheim and Launer will give a report on the Pasadena convention of the state league of municipalities.

WIFE IN ENOCH ARDEN CASE LEAVES SECOND HUSBAND TO BEGIN LIFE AGAIN WITH FIRST

A fantastic situation rivaling any conjured by imaginative fiction writers which appeared hopeless of solution, was solved today by the decision of a woman to return to her husband, Albert DeVaul, an amnesia victim who returned last week after an absence of eight years to find his wife remarried and living with another man, with the two children, born of the first marriage.

Smiling and happy, Albert DeVaul, who is staying with his cousin, Calvin DeVaul, 510 West Second street, announced today that he will be reunited with his family which had thought him dead.

His wife, now Mrs. Henry Scheff of Long Beach, 1521 North Street, Long Beach, to go to the home of her mother, the Rev. Addie Redman of Long Beach. She refused to say last night that she had made up her mind to rejoin her first husband, but the announcement of the expected reunion was made today.

Wants Work
Slowly, piece by piece, DeVaul is fitting together the broken threads of his past life until now he is ready to start life again, reunited with his wife and his children, Gail, 16, and Carl, 12. All he lacks is a job. He wants to work and will live wherever he finds a job that will help him take care of his long-lost family, whether it is here, Long Beach, Los Angeles or elsewhere.

Through the haze of forgotten years, DeVaul struggles to place the faces of his relatives and friends who come to see him. Today two cousins, Mrs. Eva Winters of Elsinore and Mrs. Iola Maul of Perris, came to see him. It was the first time he had seen them since before that fateful night eight years ago when he was a prosperous lumberman and happy husband and father, when he left Eugene, Oregon, for his home at Myrtle Point.

"I cannot place their faces," DeVaul told a representative of The Register, "although the faces of my relatives and friends look vaguely familiar to me. It seems as if I should know them and I do recognize their mannerisms, characteristics and other things about them. I felt that my children belonged to me when I first saw them, but I could not recall their faces."

Another peculiar angle to the strange story is that DeVaul spent several days in Santa Ana, where his cousin lives, several days in Long Beach, where his family is living thinking him gone forever, and a longer time in Portland, Oregon, where his mother lives, during the time he was a desolate and lonely wanderer. Yet he was never seen or recognized.

Legal Tangle
DeVaul, now 44 years old, no longer is "Bert King," the name which he assumed when he awoke in an Oakland waterfront hotel bruised and battered and with all marks of identification stripped from him, his memory gone and haunted with the fear that he had committed a crime. He is Albert DeVaul once more.

Legal aspects of the modern Enoch Arden case are involved and not readily solved. DeVaul is not certain whether his wife can obtain an annulment, or whether they will have to wait for tedious divorce proceedings before starting life together again. Neither does he yet know what it means for him to be legally dead, as his wife had him declared five years after his mysterious disappearance.

These things yet are not solved. Nor is the mystery of what happened to DeVaul the night his past was blotted from him. Nor is it known what Henry Scheff, gallant enough to give up his claim on his wife and break up his home for the happiness of others, is thinking today.

Negotiations For Settlement Being Made In Oil Suit

Although it was contesting the state's suit for an injunction today at a hearing in superior court, the Shoreline Oil Company, latest of the operators to be sued by the state for whippstock oil drilling, admitted through its attorneys that negotiations were under way for a settlement with the state on a royalty basis similar to other agreements made between the state and the operators at Huntington Beach.

For this reason, counsel for the oil company explained, no objection was made today to proceeding with a scheduled hearing before Judge L. N. Turrentine, of San Diego, who had ordered the Shoreline company into court to show why the state's request for a temporary injunction, pending trial of the case, should not be granted.

The hearing was commenced, with argument on the oil company's motion to strike from the records the affidavit of Alexander Anderson, oil well surveyor, regarding the "slant" of the Shoreline well involved in the proceedings. This well, it is claimed by the state, is slanted oceanward in order to tap the tidelands oil pool.

ARRESTS HALT FIVE PROJECTS APPROVED BY 'BOARD RACKET' RELIEF BOARD

Successful operation of another "punch board racket" was interrupted today when two men were sentenced in La Habra to spend 25 days in the county jail for petty theft.

Donald Moore, 21, and William Allman, 49, both of Los Angeles, were brought to the jail last night by Constable William Tremaine of Brea after they had been arrested in Beverly Hills on a similar charge. Los Angeles police have now placed a "hold order" on the men when they conclude the sentences here.

Moore and Allman were implicated in a clever scheme involving punch boards. The procedure started when one of the men brought a "fixed" punch board to the service station of Stanley Logsdon on South Pomona street. The next day, two men came to the station and punched out all the winning numbers, demanding payment of nearly $50.

Logsdon had read of the swindle scheme being conducted in Los Angeles and became suspicious. Investigation revealed that the men arrested in Beverly Hills were the same that operated in Brea. Tremaine secured warrants for their arrest last night and brought them to jail.

RELIEF GROUP URGES SUPPORT OF BOND ISSUE

A resolution urging favorable balloting by the public on the $24,000,000 unemployment relief bond issue which is one of the amendments included in the November 6 election ballot, was adopted by the Orange county SERRA committee at a regular meeting yesterday afternoon in the Hill building.

The resolution said: "Believing it to be the duty of the state of California to contribute its fair share in the cost of relief operations in this state, the Orange county SERRA committee hereby goes on record as urging the passage of Amendment 23, the $24,000,000 unemployment relief bond issue at the coming November election."

Discussing local financing of the SERRA work relief and direct relief program in this county, the board members authorized Chairman J. K. McDonald to write to state authorities in an attempt to secure an additional $181,000 from the last bond issue which has been earmarked for Orange county. The local committee has made requests that the money be sent here several times, but it has not been sent. A letter was received stating that any of the money not claimed before November 1 would not be available. This county already has taken $296,730 of the bond issue.

Director Terrance Halloran announced that C. W. Hatchelder has been appointed as field agent in charge of Orange and four other counties in Southern California to replace Maxwell Harrison Lewis, who has been named special assistant to Vernon D. Northrop, state director of SERRA, to decentralize the state program and to give more authority to local county units in the SERRA work relief program.

Director Halloran reported the case load now to be 2974, with an increase of 479 applications so far this month. There were 377 families given direct relief. He also reported expenditures amounting to $20,039.85 for work relief and $3564.48 for direct relief, inclusive of administrative salaries, for the past week. This indicates that about $100,000 will be spent this month for relief in the county.

The Rev. Russell C. Stroup, of Newport Beach, will speak tomorrow night at the Temple theater on "Upton Sinclair and his plan to End Poverty," at 7:45 o'clock.

The Rev. Mr. Stroup was candidate for Congress at the primaries and during his campaign spoke many times in favor of the Sinclair plan. He is now one of the active speakers in connection with the state speakers bureau of the Democratic party and has filled many speaking dates over Southern California.

Part of the evening's program will be the radio address of Harry S. Gerhart, Democratic campaign manager for Orange county, over KREG at 8:30 on "A Message to the Voters" which will compare Sinclair and Merriam at every point of issue, according to announcement from Democratic headquarters.

DEFENDANT IN SHOOTING CASE HELD FOR TRIAL

Charged with drunken driving and assault with a deadly weapon, Raymond Robins, 29, of Huntington Park, was bound over to the superior court by Judge John Landell in the San Juan Capistrano justice court yesterday.

Robins was arrested with two other hunters on the coast highway near Dana Point Sunday after he allegedly fired a shotgun at a highway sign from which the bullets glanced into a passing car. Mrs. G. C. Jones, of Long Beach, received some of the shots in her arm and Robins was placed under arrest by Jones until officers arrived.

Fred Richards, 31, of San Pedro, was charged with drunkenness on the highway and a 17-year-old youth was released by officers. Richards is free on bail and will appear this week in Landell's court.

Seek To Destroy Whale On Beach

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 24.—The police and street department forces are combining efforts in a fight to destroy a dead whale here.

A pit 50 feet long and 15 feet wide was dug on the beach and the whale allowed to slide into it. Barrels of crude oil were dumped over the carcass and the big fire started. It has been burning for three days and is not yet completely destroyed. But Huntington Beach has plenty of crude oil and the police and street forces are game fighters. The men at the front trench are complaining that they should be supplied with gas masks.

STATEMENTS BY TEACHER DRAW ALUMNI ANSWER

Charging that remarks "admittedly made" by Principal Stanberry of San Juan Capistrano High school were "contrary to fact and a direct insult to the members of the alumni, their parents and the community as a whole," P. Wilfred Rosenbaum, president of the alumni body of that school today issued a statement calling attention to the principal's asserted statements that graduates of the school have been generally failures, and that San Juan Capistrano is one of the most illiterate spots in the state.

Rosenbaum declares that the principal admitted making the statements in question, but has refused to repudiate them, stating that he had spent about three months investigating to obtain the information upon which he based the statements.

The principal's statements were said to include the further assertion that the alumni have never accomplished anything after leaving the school; that the high school has one of the lowest scholastic ratings in the county and is liable to lose its accredited rating.

"These statements, if true, would leave a very dismal outlook for the present student body," said Rosenbaum, who presented in repudiation of the principal's claims, the following records of the alumni:

"Of the 36 girls, 13 are married, 11 are employed, 9 are at school and 3 at home. Of the 55 boys, three are professional men practicing their professions, eight own their own businesses, five hold administrative positions in the firms by which they are employed, 27 are otherwise honorably employed, and 12 are still in school.

"The above summary for the entire alumni would not indicate that any were failures.

"Regarding the scholastic standing of the school, it is on the accredited list. There is no other rating or marginal rating. No one can say that we are about to be taken off the accredited list. County Superintendent Adkinson has stated that, although there are a limited number of subjects taught, so far as he is able to judge they are taught well.

"We will leave the charge of illiteracy of the community up to each individual to judge for himself. Had Mr. Stanberry indulged in a very thorough investigation, he would have obtained these facts for himself in less than three months."

Politically Speaking

By GEORGE E. HELMER

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—(UP)

—Fearing that the Anti-Sinclair drive may get out of control, heads of Gov. Frank P. Merriam's campaign have decided to concentrate the next two weeks on a constructive crusade without too much mention of the Democratic nominee.

Merriam advisers who visited the capitol during one of the Republican's brief stops revealed they had received reports that the anti-Sinclair accusations were being emphasized too much, to the exclusion of any news concerning Merriam and what he proposes to do if elected governor for the next four years.

"From now on," these advisers said, "we shall concentrate on a constructive drive. Tell people about Frank Merriam and his record and what lies ahead if his administration is in the saddle. Trouble is, there are so many organizations friendly to Merriam and working against Sinclair that we cannot control or direct their activities."

The Merriam people, by the way, are enthusiastically confident they will win.

Somewhat similar word comes from supporters of Raymond L. Haight, the commonwealth "middle of the road" candidate. They say evidence of increased backing for Haight is seen on all sides.

At the same time, Sinclair workers, operating more quietly than their opponents, insist their candidate is gaining new votes steadily. They point to increases in Democratic registration as one bit of proof that Sinclair's popularity did not end with the primary.

If all of these reports are true, each of the three major candidates is gaining strength and nobody is losing. But the true story cannot be told until the night of November 6, when votes are tabulated.

Ex-Governor C. C. Young came forth with a denial that he had endorsed Merriam. He said he merely opposed Sinclair, without reference to other candidates.

Instead of the usual Republican-Democratic fight, this campaign has developed into an Anti-Sinclair vs. Sinclair battle. Both sides seem to agree on that. Party lines have been shattered. Merriam has pledged to support President Roosevelt's program and insisted his victory would not mean the defeat of the Democratic party or principles.

Easterners, according to Controller Ray L. Riley, are both laughing and crying about the California election. Laughing because they don't like California anyway, and think it would be real funny to have Sinclair at the helm here. Apprehensive because they fear they may be affected; that the so-called "radical" movement may sweep the nation.

Experts say that constitutional amendments would be necessary to permit the operation of most of Sinclair's program; that only by vote of the people can the constitution be amended, and that therefore it would be some time before Sinclair could get his plan under way, regardless of the attitude of the legislature.

JULIAN ROAD Contract has been let for oiling 13.1 miles between Julian and the easterly boundary of San Diego county, according to the National Automobile club.

Hours. He has paid out more than $10,000 in fares. A hard headed business man, Holzwarner says he is 266 days and $50,000 ahead of the game.

United Air Lines does more night flying in one 24-hour period than the combined night flying of all European companies in a full month.

DESCRIPTION OF STATE IN GEOGRAPHIC

This region may reasonably expect an increased high class winter tourist influx by reason of the remarkable beauty and interest of a 72-page feature devoted to it in the November issue of the National Geographic Magazine, "Southern California at Work" is the title of the comprehensive article by Frederick Simpich, and with it are 30 illustrations, many in full color, showing all phases of the tremendous progress in the state.

Simpich, one of the country's most brilliant writers, and the late Clifton Adams, distinguished photographer, spent several months here last spring assembling the material, with the Automobile Club of Southern California as headquarters. The result is the hand-somest and most authentic display ever given the Land of Sunshine by a magazine. It will be enjoyed by millions of readers, and represents an outlay by the National Geographic of about $250,000.

Simpich has "covered" every notable achievement—and there are many—of the state's development, from the founding of the missions up to today, with special emphasis on the mighty works of the Colorado River Aqueduct, Boulder Dam, industrial and commercial expansion, aviation and the aircraft industry, the movies, harbor, highways and other activities are broadly handled. Cultural attainments, summer and winter sports, educational advancement, scenic beauties—nothing is overlooked in the striking presentation of Southern California.

W. GOODMAN OPENS DETECTIVE OFFICE

Specializing in investigation work of all kinds, William L. Goodman has opened an office at 234 Spurgeon building.

Goodman has just received a renewal of his private detective license, according to the statutes of the state of California, from Walter H. Killam, secretary of the state board of prison directors. He was previously established in Kern county and also worked in Los Angeles county. He has been engaged in the business of investigation for the past nine years and comes highly recommended to Santa Ana, it is reported.

VETO

As you read this the American Legion boys will be mixing medicine down in Miami to vote on the bonus question.

Anti-bonus leaders were much disappointed when President Roosevelt failed to take a specific stand on the issue in his Ponce de Leon speech last Friday. They know he is still opposed to cash payments now but they wish he had said something to that effect. Forty-eight per cent of the voting delegates went to Miami instructed to demand the balance of the bonus immediately. If the Legion doesn't take a pro-bonus stand it will be a miracle.

It looks very much as if Mr. Roosevelt will have to get his veto pen out at the next session of Congress.

ADDITIONS

For the past week New Dealers have been gasping over the Literary Digest poll tending to show that administration popularity has receded from 61-39 to almost a 50-50 basis. It is the big topic of conversation among official top-liners.

The Roosevelt boys simply refuse to accept the figures—although they welcomed the earlier polls that showed FDR's stock in the ascendancy. They are seeking comfort instead from newspaper polls being conducted in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Iowa which point to Democratic Congressional victories next month.

Further, in their private conversation, New Dealers are falling back on an argument that they publicly scoffed at until now. They are telling each other that the magazine poll depended on telephone directories and automobile registrations. Wait, they say, and see what the $1000 a year and under people—too poor to afford phones or autos—add to the showing when they get to the polls.

PROOF

Harry Hopkins is very proud of his rural industrial communities. The Federal Relief Administrator displayed pictures of one of the 150 home-farms being erected at Red House, W. Va., at a press conference, and stressed the point that house and ten-acre tract together only cost $1600. Down in Arkansas, he said, 200 homes for the unemployed had been built at costs ranging from $650 to $800.

This must have made faces red in the Subistence Homestead Division of the Interior Department—to say nothing of the White House. The houses at Mrs. Roosevelt's pet Redsville, W. Va., project cost between $4000 and $6000 each, and then didn't turn out to be so hot, according to all reports.

Hopkins has made a fine field showing on what can be done as experience is gathered.

PICKING

There is an extra reporter sitting in at all sessions of the Post-office Department's current inquiry into ocean mail contracts.

In addition to the official stenographic reporters, a young lady hammers away diligently at a stenotype machine. Newspaper men who have watched her closely noticed that she was not recording everything said but picked her spots instead.

This young lady works for Carl Rietine, special assistant to the attorney general, in charge of air mail and ocean-mail prosecutions. If any. It is her job to get down verbatim any statements made from the witness stand by steamship men that may have a bearing on any court proceedings Rietine might decide to institute.

TIGHT

There have been so many jail breaks recently that obviously were made possible by assistance from the outside that the Department of Justice has taken unusual precautions at Alcatraz prison, in San Francisco bay. The prison collection there of public enemies is on a scientific basis that makes hope of escape or insurrection less than a dream.

Alcatraz prisoners on good behavior are permitted visitors once a month, but they no longer can come in personal contact with their callers—who might be tempted to slip them a gun, knife or saw.

A steel door now separates prisoner and visitor. Conversation is done through a tube arrangement and sight of each other is possible only through a peephole filled with bullet-proof glass.

ARK

Secretary Wallace and Chester Davis, AAA administrator, are charged by the failure of cash-fertilized farmers to give the AAA a whopping indorsement just before election. Of the 50 per cent who voted at all, only a bare majority voted to suit the planners. Wallace, always frank and fair, announces that this result does not justify him in claiming that the farmers have rendered an unmistakable verdict.

Another plebiscite is to be taken and Washington will beg the farmers to "get out and vote." A big majority for AAA is needed to impress Congress. Otherwise the AAA may be amputated and twisted out of shape. Radicals are determined to go too far to suit Wallace, and conservatives, including many Democrats, are living in wait to hamstring the program.

The heart of the difficulty lies in the attempt to bring producers of many different kinds of commodities into Wallace's AAA ark. Noah had fewer troubles.

SAFETY

Only women reporters are permitted in Mrs. Roosevelt's press conference. Lately the girls have been going through a ticketing procedure before being ushered upstairs. Each one is required to sign her name and affiliation.

"Just for the protection of the legitimate reporters," says Ray Muir, chief White House usher. The regulars suspect that someone not qualified got into one of the conferences and took an undue advantage of the situation. The First Lady's press sessions always are jammed, and almost invariably women from out-of-town are in attendance in addition to the local reporters.

ROSE

Joett Shouse, president of the American Liberty League, doesn't like the terms "liberal and conservative" as applied generally to the two schools of political thought. So far as the Liberty League is concerned, he would prefer to have its members known as "conservators of constructive thought."

NOTES

David Lloyd George is coming soon to visit friends in Washington. "Never mind," said Representative Patman, "We'll get a bill through to issue $2,400,000,000 in currency to pay the bonus."

The Vice President Garner will confer soon—minus publicity—with FDR at the White House to shape up the winter program. . . . The Supreme Court is considering omnibus refusals of students in land-grant colleges to perform military service. . . . Nobody but objectors fortified by religious scruples is exempt, according to law. . . . Strong forces, including the administration, are lining up against A. F. L.'s demand for a 30-hour week.

PUNCHES

Big time utility leaders have decided they're fed up with suffering in silence. The Edison Electric Institute is preparing to launch an aggressive campaign that will tell the world the utilities' side of the New Deal argument. An imposing array of figures will be mustered in an effort to prove that the power companies have been badly maligned and mistreated by public officials. Special attention will be given to combating the whole theory of public ownership as unfair socialist competition with legitimate private enterprise.

This decision to take their case directly to the public marks a sharp reversal in Edison Institute policy. Until recently—as pointed out in this column—the institute's directors figured it was wisest to play low and confine what they consider their life-and-death battle with the New Deal to submarine tactics. They felt they were so discredited in the public mind that anything they might say in their own defense would be greeted with razzberries. But now the school of thought which preferred an open offensive has won out, and you'll see plenty of action from here on.

Insiders attribute the institute's change of heart largely to forceful Tom McCaree, its president. He firmly believes the utilities are victims of misrepresentation and injustice, and he's all in favor of saying so out loud. He's had quite a time persuading some of his more timid associates—who are better accustomed to indirect methods—but he's finally carried his point. Even now a number of his followers are worried about the kickback to such boldness. They remark that the government has a dozen ways of scoring uncomfortable reprisals if so inclined, and that government spokesmen inevitably have a big edge in getting and holding popular attention.

Details of the institute's campaign aren't fully settled, but an announcement is due soon which will make its intentions clear. Tentative plans call for establishment of a Washington bureau which will function as a combination lobby and listening post. There will be an abundance of high-powered publicity, although the exact nature hasn't yet been determined. You can count on it that the institute's punches won't be pulled.

TEAMWORK

But don't think the utilities are abandoning their subtler forms of New Deal opposition just because they're going to step out in public. Political sniping will continue unabated.

For instance, many utility chiefs would rejoice to see Governor Lehman of New York defeated for re-election, and insiders say they are doing their quiet best to bring about the desired result. They have a double objective in concentrating on Lehman. One is to punish him for the restrictive laws he prodded through at last session of the legislature. The other is to dent FDR's prestige by upsetting his friend and political protegee in his home state.

You couldn't prove it in court, but the informed are convinced that this factor has an important bearing on Tammany's apathetic attitude towards the governor. Relations between New York utility interests and Tammany big shots have long been cordial, and it's a pretty safe bet they have been mutually beneficial. There are signs that the old teamwork is still going strong.

Efforts have also been made to mobilize utility security holders against Lehman. Not that the power companies themselves have done anything about it officially—they are far too wise to risk the repercussions that might ensue—but they certainly haven't discouraged stock and bond owners who wanted to spread the word among their fellows that the governor is their enemy. The only trouble is that the mass of security holders decline to get excited about the situation or to

PORTER SPEAKS TO DEMOCRATS AT RALLY HERE

Holding up Upton Sinclair as a man whose brotherly love for his fellowmen causes him to work for them and not for money interests, N. T. Porter, Los Angeles, representing the state Democratic committee and campaign headquarters, spoke to a large crowd at a Democratic rally last night in the Temple theater.

A. B. Hillabold, write-in Democratic candidate for congress, opposing Sam Collins, Republican, Herbert F. Kenney, candidate for assemblyman from the 75th district, C. R. Allen, candidate for assemblyman from the 76th district, and P. A. Rogers, representing Hillabold, also spoke briefly at the meeting.

In a fiery and dynamic address, Porter declared that people have been driven to the wall and beaten into an awakening which will result in Sinclair's election. He urged his listeners to "fight for a new bill of human rights."

"If there is a spark of life left in us," he said, "we will rise up now and strike down that brutality and tyranny which laid us low. God gave us everything but man went on an orgy of speculation, and counterfeiting of values so that we were stricken down because of the collapse of a structure built on nothing but air."

"The crusader fights for human rights and is in God's army. Whose army are those who are fighting, with fraudulently obtained wealth under cover of legality which secretes and cloaks criminals?"

"Fear not these threats of losing your jobs but be sure you will lose your job if you cower, because there won't be any more jobs. Soup lines here are not long, but they are creeping steadily toward you."

"There is no confiscation in this program, no breakdown of corporations, but the rich must pay their part of the burden. Homes and small farms must be protected. There is righteousness, Christianity, brotherly love and religion in this cause."

Harry Garhart, secretary of the Orange county Democratic Central committee, spoke briefly, discussing pre-election campaign work and announcing plans to install watchers in the various precincts at polls to be sure there is no illegality in voting.

Dinner, Program Planned By Lodge

A dinner and entertainment program to be staged tonight by Santa Ana Masonic lodge No. 241 will mark another high spot in a series of social events for the season. It was announced today by Harold Yost, chairman of the entertainment committee.

Following dinner which will start promptly at 6:30 o'clock, two one-act plays will be presented by the Santa Ana Community Players. Musical numbers will be given between the plays, which will be followed by an hour's program to be presented by Loyd Enoch, formerly of Santa Ana, now a world-famous magician.

LABOR

New York business leaders haven't said much about the Federation of Labor's decision at San Francisco to foster industrial—vertical—unions as against the craft type of organization, but they've been thinking plenty.

Informed circles privately believe this change in the labor set-up will make it much tougher to keep company unions alive in competition with federation groups. Some of industry's best minds are focused on the problem of how to offset this new approach to the closed shop.

General Motor's experiment in labor relations is worth watching in this connection. The motor people have one big advantage over most other industries in their fight on the closed shop—presidential sanction of collective bargaining with minority labor groups. GM's aim now is to cultivate friendly contacts with independent unions and give them every break possible—in the hope of removing all incentive for employees to join up with A. F. of L. Other large corporations will try the same tactic if General Motors can make it work.

CONTEST

One of the most vital tests of labor's gains under the New Deal is now being fought in the New York Supreme Court. The National Association of Manufacturers is suing on behalf of Ralph A. Freundlich—largest doll and toy maker in the country—to try to prove that Section 2-A makes the closed shop illegal. You don't have to be a crystal gazer to foresee what a court decision to that effect would mean.

The federation gets all the implications and is backing the Doll and Toy Makers' Union to the limit. Neither side is publicizing the contest because a defeat would be costly, but the winner will have plenty to say.

SIDELIGHTS

Tammany chiefs are still chuckling over Governor Lehman's statement that he's the boss of the New York State Democracy. . . . Lehman didn't help his cause when he failed to mention Tammany's pet candidate—Frank Taylor, for comptroller—on the Tiger's own platform.

irrigation and water resources plan in California.

"Sinclair did not specify," Mr. Roosevelt was informed and then was asked:

"Mr. President, did you promise Mr. Sinclair you would make a statement of any kind?"

The president said he had not made such a promise. He doubted, also, that the federal government would intervene in California or anywhere else to prevent disenfranchisement of voters. Mr. Roosevelt pointed out that in almost every election there are pleas for federal intervention but that the government never interferes. But he considers disenfranchisement of citizens because they are on relief rolls although willing to work to be an un-American practice.

Situation Confused

Advices from California reflect a confused political situation in which Sinclair's strength is waning from the high which swept him to primary victory. The former socialist's supporters claimed the administration would move to help him.

The anti-Sinclair group said the White House would repudiate the head of the Democratic state ticket. Three politically important Californians were in Washington yesterday. Their movements and remarks may give some hint of the future.

Culbert L. Olson, California state committeeman:

1. Predicted Sinclair's election by a fat margin.
2. Failed to obtain an appointment with President Roosevelt.
3. Said no one had the right to say the Democratic national committee was sabotaging Sinclair.

George Creel, who lost the nomination to Sinclair:

1. Saw President Roosevelt.
2. Refused to say specifically he would support Sinclair.
3. Announced that a California Central Valley Irrigation project of political importance to all California Democratic candidates would have immediate federal attention.

Senator William G. McAdoo, D., Cal.:

1. Conferred by telephone with Olson.

Speaks for Ashurst

2. Told questioners he would speak Nov. 3 in Arizona for Senator Henry D. Ashurst.
3. Conspicuously refrained from announcing any California speaking engagements.

Olson said he was told he probably could see Mr. Roosevelt if he would remain until today. He decided to return to California. There is reason to believe, however, that the president was not eager for an interview which would drag him into the California storm.

Both McAdoo and Creel explain they will support Democratic candidates in California who stand by the state platform. Sinclair claims the state platform contains all the fundamentals of his "EPIC" plan and insists he is remaining strictly within the platform limits.

The consensus here seems to be that administration sympathy for Sinclair is faint and not discernible by any of the accepted symptoms of political enthusiasm. There is, however, the letter written by Chairman James A. Farley of the Democratic National committee to California state committeemen. It called for support of the straight ticket.

But Farley has refused to discuss the letter or even to confirm the California reports that it exists. It may have been political—less difficult to circulate a letter of that kind than to be silent throughout the campaign, or to attempt to split the ticket from Washington.

SINCLAIR DENIES HE EXPECTED STATEMENT
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—(UP)—In the midst of California's most torrid political campaign in years, Upton Sinclair, Democratic candidate for governor, took time out today to deny that he ever had said he expected President Roosevelt to make an announcement supporting his candidacy.

Sinclair even dispatched a telegram to Mr. Roosevelt saying "an atrocious misquotation" had been made by a newspaper here of a Sinclair statement.

"They are deliberately distorting my statements concerning administration seeking to put me in false position," the telegram, released here, read. "Am endeavoring to obtain immediate correction."

Later Sinclair said that what he did say was "that if President Roosevelt makes a statement on certain public policies I feel certain I will be elected governor."

"I talked with the president recently," the Democratic candidate was quoted as saying. "He said he would issue a statement on certain public policies and if he doesn't change his mind and says in it what he told me he would—I can't tell you what he told me—but if he says the things he told me he would say I can tell you I shall be your next governor."

Considerable mystery existed as to what Sinclair expected Mr. Roosevelt to say. Sinclair followers apparently were expecting the president to issue his statement Monday night when he made an address to a welfare organization but there was nothing in that speech pertaining to California.

FARLEY LETTER ON SINCLAIR "MISTAKE"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—(UP)—The letter Chairman James A. Farley of the national committee wrote to Californians boosting the Democratic gubernatorial candidacy of Upton Sinclair seems to have been a mistake.

Whose mistake it may have been is not being revealed just now. The committee's official statement is that no letter was sent. But there was such a letter.

The story back of it is that a form letter was prepared at committee headquarters with blank spaces into which were to be inserted the appropriate candidate names for each state and congressional district.

When committee clerks reached California they inserted the names of Sen. Hiram Johnson, Democratic and Republican nominee for re-election, Sinclair as Democratic candidate for governor and the names of Democratic house candidates.

Suspicious Californians are reported to have telegraphed committee headquarters when the letters began arriving to determine whether they were authentic and could be used in the campaign. The inquiry was disposed of by a minor committee employee with the information that the letters were for campaign use.

The slip is one of several made by the committee which is operated by remote control from Farley's office. The chairman does not, however, personally oversee the committee's campaign production and the first hint he had of the Sinclair ballyhoo probably was when he asked here Saturday whether he had signed such a message to California Democrats.

Tennesseans were considerably surprised a few days ago to receive from the Democratic National committee a similar letter urging election of Carroll Reece to the house of representatives. Reece is a Republican. During the Hoover administration he was the most effective member of congress in the fight on bills for government operation of the Muscle Shoals Power and Fertilizer project.

About 100 of the Reece letters got out before the mistake was spotted. A young man with high political connections was responsible for the Tennessee mistake.

Farley refused today to discuss California politics. He previously refused to confirm or deny that he wrote the Sinclair letter.

DR. BURTON TALKS ON CITIZENSHIP

Dr. W. H. Burton will give his fourth lecture on modern educational procedure tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the Willard auditorium, 1342 North Rose street, it was announced today.

This lecture will present briefly some suggestions for a program in teaching better citizenship, according to Mrs. Golden Weston, director of the adult education department.

Certain specific illustrations of topics and discussions suitable for pupils will be given. The relation of training young people to the actual problems in the community will be stressed. Illustrations will not be technical nor from textbooks but rather common items from everyday life, from the newspapers, from magazines, etc., will be used.

CLAIMS ADS BRING PEOPLE TO STATE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 24.—(UP)—Advertising, rather than political promises, is responsible for the influx of visitors to California, A. B. Gray, manager of the California Tourist association, insisted today.

Gray took exception to reports that numerous unemployed were coming to California in the hope of obtaining jobs under Upton Sinclair's Epic program. He particularly criticized Russell Bevans, state registrar of motor vehicles, for saying that border station men "found that a large percentage of the people coming to California are doing so because they think Sinclair will be elected governor and they will all get jobs."

"It is just as truthful to say that the occupants of those cars came to share the promised $24,000,000 bond issue sponsored by Governor Merriam as to claim they came because of the political promises of some other candidate," Gray said.

For the night driver's convenience the keyhole of the ignition switch on Nash models is illuminated.

HOLLAND TOPIC OF DISCUSSION BEFORE FORUM

Discussing the culture which Holland is famed for, Dr. Frederick W. Roman spoke last night at a meeting of the Santa Ana Valley Forum in the Ebell clubhouse.

The speaker gave considerable data regarding Holland, showing the tremendous influence the country has wielded on the balance of the world and telling of some of the great men of the nation.

"Holland's title to outstanding contributions to the world's culture is then secure in the fields of literature, philosophy and scientific discovery and in the originating of schemes for the peace of mankind," he said.

"Nearly every part of the civilized world knows by direct contact something of the Dutch explorers and settlers. This domain of cultural influence has been permanently established not only in America but as far south as South Africa and east to the Orient. A still greater role lies in the Dutch contribution to political and religious liberty, and her miscellaneous achievements in art hold the record for all time.

Roosevelt Hints 'No Bonus' at Hospital Dedication

Urging ex-service men to refrain from any drive for further cash benefits—a hint that no cash bonus can be expected now—so that the nation may care for its millions of "forgotten people," President Roosevelt dedicated the $1,700,000 veterans' hospital at Roanoke, Va. The picture shows the chief executive, indicated by arrow, as he made his address in the bunting-draped bandstand, with the band in the foreground. Hospital buildings are shown in the background.

MEDICAL MEN OPPOSED TO TWO MEASURES

Responding to the call of a prominent layman, S. C. Hart, of Fullerton, who urged that the medical profession "cast aside its reserve" and come openly into the fight against "the prostitution of the rights of the people," the Orange County Medical Society last night passed a resolution opposing Amendments 9 and 17 on the November election ballot.

In both a radio address and a personal appearance before the society, Hart, former state assemblyman, called for united opposition of scientific associations against the so-called chiropractic and naturopath initiatives, which he pointed out would permit all drugless healers, untrained and unskilled in medicine and surgery, to enter the full practice and privileges of physicians and surgeons.

"I hope and trust that our scientific associations in California," said Hart, "will set aside their reticence and come out boldly and oppose the passage of these dangerous measures, 9 and 17."

"Our medical societies, osteopathic associations, dental, pharmaceutical, nursing and optometric organizations; our chiropractors, teachers, ministers, P.-T. A.; our hospitals and clinics and everybody that stands for anything of an educational nature should rise up now and declare themselves against this prostitution of the rights of the people."

Following Hart's appeal, the society, meeting in the chapel at the Orange County hospital, adopted a resolution signed by President Harry E. Huffman and Secretary Waldo Wehrly, which called attention to the full freedom of the public at present to select any doctor of its choice, and pointed out the danger of permitting drugless healers to practice medicine and surgery without education for such practice.

The resolution stated: "Because initiative measures Nos. 9 and 17 will license drugless healers, who have but a very limited knowledge of the anatomy of the human frame, and who have not studied the science of medicine and more especially that part which refers to administration of drugs, and who have not studied any part of the science or art of surgery, to be full fledged physicians and surgeons, we call the attention of all voters to these facts and urge them, for the protection of themselves and their families, to vote 'no' on these dangerous measures, which can only bring calamity and disaster upon the public, and disgrace on the healing art."

"The present licensing acts provide that the chiropractor and naturopath have all the privileges to practice their systems, and the public may use their services at any time they choose, without any hindrance, whether these new measures are passed or not. The slogan, 'Protect your right to choose your own doctor' has no reference to these measures and simply clouds the real issue. We recognize that these bills profess to provide improvements in the courses, but this does not improve the education of those already licensed, who, without this better training, will be admitted to full physician and surgeon standing and privilege."

"The bills specifically provide that all rights and privileges which physicians and surgeons now have, or may hereafter be granted under the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Insurance and Safety Act of 1917 shall be accorded to these drugless healers, which covers the whole field of medicine and surgery. It also provides that 'all persons licensed hereunder shall be entitled to practice under their licenses in any and all institutions supported wholly or in part by public funds.' We can hardly visualize what effect this would have on the treatment of our poor in the county hospital, where drugless healers would be performing capital operations on these defenseless sick ones. We implore the public to come to its own rescue and vote 'no' on Nos. 9 and 17."

URGE SICK TO GET ABSENTEE VOTER BALLOTS

Invalids who will be unable to go to the polls on November 6 to cast their votes should secure absentee voter's ballots from the county clerk in order that their votes may be counted, according to Rolla R. Hays Jr., chairman of the Non-Partisan Get-Out-the-Vote committee today.

This committee, sponsored originally by the Santa Ana Lions club, has received the endorsement and co-operation of the Rotary, Kiwanis, American Legion, 20-30 club, Business and Professional Women's club, Chamber of Commerce, Woman's club, Parent-Teacher groups, and many other civic and service organizations. Hays said, and the aim of its work is to urge that everybody vote and exercise their rights and privileges as an American citizen.

"The committee is not concerned as to how any voter may cast his ballot," said Hays today. "The important thing, in a democracy, is that every elector vote his convictions, whatever they may be, so that the election result may truly represent the majority opinion and thus express the will of the people."

"In our Lions club we find every member who fails to vote, for we feel that voting is a test of good citizenship and all good Lions will cast their ballots if at all possible. In case of neglect or carelessness, a fine acts as a splendid deterrent against future repetition of careless citizenship. Many other clubs follow a similar policy, for they are founded upon the ideals of service and Americanism, and one of the requirements of a good citizen is that he shall exercise his right of franchise."

Hays stressed the point that the "get out the vote" movement represents all shades of political opinion, and is strictly nonpartisan in character, with no political axes to grind, and its purpose is to secure, if possible, the largest percentage of voting in history at the coming general election.

Headquarters of the committee were opened this week in the Farmers and Merchants bank building at Fourth and Broadway, and anyone who is willing to help get out a record vote on election day is asked to call and leave their names. Also, anyone who is desirous of assistance in getting to the polls may leave their names and addresses at this headquarters.

"Many people do not know that those who are sick and unable to go to the polls are entitled to vote an absentee voter's ballot," said Hays, "and we urge that such voters apply at once to the office of the county clerk for an absentee ballot so they may not lose their vote. And remember, November 1 is the last day on which applications for absentee ballots may be received, and anyone who waits beyond that date will lose their vote."

BOOKS REVIEWED FOR CLUB GROUP

GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 24.—The first meeting of the fall was held by members of the Booklovers' section of the Woman's Civic club in the home of Mrs. P. S. Virgin, on East Acacia street, recently, with Mrs. E. G. Maier as co-hostesses.

Mrs. E. E. Smith of Anaheim, state chairman of literature, reviewed a list of 12 different types of books. Mrs. Smith was presented with baskets of flowers by Mrs. James G. McCracken and Mrs. E. G. Maier. Mrs. Maier was elected leader of the section, and Mrs. Carl Nichols, assistant leader.

The tea table was presided over by Mrs. James G. McCracken and Miss Mary Thompson, who poured tea and coffee. The Halloween motif was carried out in the centerpiece of brightly colored autumn leaves and fancy gourds and tall orange and black tapers. The dainty sandwiches, cakes and candies also stressed the Halloween theme.

Those present were Mesdames Zora Rogers, R. H. Williams and Hoover and Garden Grove, and E. E. Smith of Anaheim, guests of the afternoon: W. O. Broady, J. H. Kirkham, Virgil Sparks, Charles George, Charles Ver Jones, Genevieve Fording, Ray Johnson, Miss Mary Thompson and the hostesses.

CRACK POLICE PISTOL TEAM TO SHOW HERE

The first appearance of the world famous Los Angeles police department crack pistol team, for four years international champions, at a big program tomorrow night in Veterans hall, between Third and Fourth on Birch street, is expected to attract a record crowd at a meeting sponsored jointly by the Santa Ana American Legion post and the Disabled American Veterans, Jack Fisher post. It was announced today by Commander Bert Castles of the Legion.

The seven-man pistol team, which for four years has defeated every team it has competed with, will stage a special exhibition in the program which starts at 8 p.m. and to which the public is invited without charge. Members of the pistol team will perform such stunts as shooting cigarettes out of a person's mouth and other feats of marksmanship.

Chief James Davis of the Los Angeles police department, will be the speaker of the evening and will discuss communistic activities. His talk will follow a brief business session of the Legion.

An entertainment feature of the evening will be the presentation of Frank Pierce, director of music at the First Christian church of Santa Ana, in a group of vocal solos.

Following the program a free public dance will be given. Music will be furnished by Billie Nickel's seven-piece dance orchestra of Los Angeles.

Friends Give Surprise Dinner as Birthday Celebration

Mrs. Edward Noe's birthday anniversary occasioned a surprise celebration staged when Mrs. Ella Stowe, Mrs. Amelia Perkins and Mrs. Edith Getty combined plans for a dinner party in the latter's home, 822 North Parton street.

Arriving at the Getty home, Mrs. Noe was given a noisy welcome as friends joined in wishing her "happy birthday." The hostess trio had all in readiness for dinner, served at a long table centered with rosebuds and fern. For the dessert course, Mrs. Noe's twin daughters, the Misses Alice and Inez Noe, had provided an elaborately decorated birthday cake.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Noe and daughters and sons, Miss Alice, Miss Inez, Harold and Clytus Noe; Mrs. Amelia Perkins, Richard Perkins and daughters, the Misses Dora and Mary Perkins; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Swain and daughters, the Misses Lucille, Carmelle and Georgianna Swain; Mesdames Ella Stowe, Edith Getty, Elizabeth Caldwell and Fleta Lippincott.

Shiloh Circle Members Celebrate Fortieth Anniversary

Memories of the founding of Shiloh Circle Ladies of the G. A. R. in October, 1894, were recalled at the latest meeting of the group, by the many pleasant things planned as the 40th anniversary celebration.

Mrs. Sarah Alford, president, conducted the afternoon session held in Pythian hall, and received representatives of the city's various patriotic organizations as they offered greetings. Sedgwick Post No. 17, G. A. R., Sedgwick Women's Relief Corps, Daughters of Union Veterans and Sons of Union Veterans were among those joining in the celebration, as were members of Columbia Circle of Los Angeles.

General singing of patriotic songs followed, and everyone joined in congratulations to Mrs. Kate Hendricks, who was celebrating her 98th birthday anniversary.

Reports of ailing veterans and members included the encouraging word that Commander J. H. Brown of Sedgwick Post was showing some improvement in health.

Patriotic decorations were used with flowers on the tables where two beautifully decorated and candle-light birthday cakes were served with coffee and other dainties.

Historical Society To Celebrate Serra Memorial Day

Mission San Juan Capistrano as the setting and John Steven McGroarty, poet laureate of California as the speaker, offer unlimited possibilities for an appropriate celebration on Saturday afternoon, October 27, of Serra Memorial Day as planned by Orange County Historical society.

Mrs. Anita Alexander, program chairman, was fortunate in being able to secure the poet laureate as speaker, for as congressional aide, his duties just at present on the eve of election, demand much of his time. However, he has promised to be present and will close his address by reading his famous poem, "California," in response to many requests.

The program will be presented in the chapel so tragically wrecked by earthquake on December 8, 1812. Mission children will open the program with the morning hymn written by Father Junipero Serra for the children of his time. Mrs. J. E. Pleasant, author of "History of Orange County," will read a short paper on the life of Father Serra, and after the address by Mr. McGroarty, the program will close with the singing of "Evening Hymn" by the Mission children.

Since the program will begin promptly at 2:30 o'clock ample time will be allowed for guests to go through the Mission and its grounds, visit the reconstructed chapel, watch the Mission potters shaping their clay into useful and beautiful objects just as their forbears did under direction of the padres, and see all the interesting things about this historic spot that have earned the eulogy voiced by Mr. McGroarty in "California: Its History and Romance."

Of this particular Mission he wrote, "The glory of San Juan Capistrano has passed over as the beauty of the dream that called it forth, but what remains of it stands as the most entrancing ruin on the American continent."

Somewhat late in opening, members of the Russian Ensemble cut their program to approximately half an hour of music and dances. However, what they gave was distinctly enjoyable, as the balalaika is a novel musical instrument and the players chose quaint melodies of their native land that had strange minor chords and unusual changes in tempo. "Azeppa Overture," "Intermezzo Russo," a Russian polka, a march and "Big Boots" comprised the ensemble numbers. Two dances by George Sabot were to balalaika music, as were two of Serge Dubinsky's baritone-bass solos.

The latter sang "Dream of the Garden," "The Volga Boatman" and a third number which was unfamiliar to the audience, and which the leader unfortunately announced again as "Dream of the Garden." His voice was full and rich and quite as powerful as his physique. He shared star honors with the dancer, George Sabot, whose Cossack dance, "Russian Moonlight," was a thing of fire and beauty, equalled only by his Circassian sword dance, which closed the brief program.

Announcements

Women's Benefit association members will meet Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Mrs. E. R. Curtis, 222 South Main street.

Capistrano Y. L. I. members have been informed that their meeting Thursday night in Knights of Columbus hall, will begin promptly at 7 o'clock rather than at the customary time of 8 o'clock. It is being changed for this one occasion in order to permit members to go in a body to the meeting to attend the address on "Communism" by Los Angeles chief of police, James Davis. The speaker is appearing under auspices of Santa Ana post American Legion and Jack Fisher chapter D. A. V. and the meeting is open to everyone.

Mrs. Elmer Schick of Elgin, Ill., who has been spending the past week with Mrs. Dale V. Wilkins, 633 Orange avenue, a friend of her girlhood days, left last night for her home, planning to stop en route east for a few days' visit in Houston, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wiley Harris, Mr. and Mrs. W. Frank Harris, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Hickey and Mrs. Mary E. Beard were in Downey recently attending funeral services for Miss Ellen Freeman. Friends Arrange Surprise Dinner Event

Motoring to Ocean Beach Sunday, a group of Santa Ana friends of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. James H. Hughes formerly of this city, carried out plans for a pleasant surprise on their hosts by taking all the requirements for a covered dish dinner served on the beach.

The Rev. Mr. Hughes was formerly pastor of Santa Ana First M. E. church, and he and Mrs. Hughes were prominent in church, school and music circles of this city. He now holds the pastorate of Point Loma M. E. church in the beach city.

During the afternoon the party enjoyed the hospitality of the Hughes home and visited many points of interest in the community. In the group were the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Hughes and the latter's mother, Mrs. Ida Irvine; Messrs. and Mesdames Fred W. Hein and son Ronald, Edward H. Burns and son Donald; J. Floyd Vale, Gale Harmon and son Eugene, Albert Blower, Mrs. Jack Robinson and Miss Irene Blower of this community, and Mr. and Mrs. Millard Beemer of Valley Center.

Guests Bring Quilt Blocks and Other Gifts to Shower

Mrs. Ted R. Faulkner was honored guest at a shower given recently when Mrs. Frank F. Groover and Mrs. L. F. Hostetter were hostesses in the latter's home, 1321 Orange avenue. Invitations designed as bibs were sent out, together with quilt blocks which guests completed in advance of the party.

In an spelling contest, Mrs. Robert Hagthorpe won first prize and Mrs. Faulkner was consoled with the quilt blocks. The honoree received also a booklet which guests filled with suggested names for the expected arrival, and a scrap book of magazine pictures depicting a life story starting with childhood.

Stork tallies were distributed for a game in which Mrs. Horace W. Leeding and Mrs. William A. Marymoe were rewarded for high and low scores. Mrs. Hostetter's shower gift to Mrs. Faulkner was a nursery lamp fashioned as a stork figure in whose bill was a note naming the hiding place for her nest. A search revealed layette gifts in a bassinet which has been used by several babies in the Faulkner family.

Ice cream stork molds were served with a pink and white cake cut by the honor guest, Mrs. Edward Hagthorpe and Mrs. Robert Hagthorpe assisted in serving at this time, when tables were spread with white linens. Centerpieces, favors and other appointments furthered the prevailing theme.

Present with the two hostesses and the honoree were Mesdames W. P. Hagthorpe, Edward Hagthorpe, Butler, William Marymoe, Helen Ogle, Helen Miller, Lela Faulkner, Myrtle Faulkner, Elma Faulkner, Florence Faulkner, Joe Penna, Guy Penna, Horace Leeding, Madeline Coulson, Jack Kahler, Blanche Parker, Bessie Miodick, Lillian Stewart, Opal Hull, Sue Parsons, Murrell Woodward, and the Misses Fae Parsons, Rue Summan, Marie Rash, Lois Taylor, Laura Harding, Gertrude Summers, April Brownlow, Mary Ford, Marie Ehlen, Lola Jones, Elizabeth Spohr, Carrie Morse, this city; Mrs. Robert Hagthorpe, Long Beach; Mrs. Herbert Hagthorpe, Mrs. F. T. Porter, Los Angeles; Miss Dean Lowry, Fullerton; Mrs. Mildred Woods, Pasadena; Mrs. Mabel Rounds, Brawley; Mrs. Brooks Lucas, Victorville, Miss Marguerite Thompson, Saugus; Mrs. Martha Raymond, Anaheim. Children in the group included Bobby Hagthorpe of Los Angeles and Marjorie Joanne Hostetter of the home.

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Dinner

Section of Melon or small fruit cocktail

1 cup Scotch broth

1 pan-fried mutton chop

4 tablespoons sliced cooked carrot

1 ripe sliced tomato on plate

1 small baked potato

Tea or coffee, without sugar or cream

Calory total, 400

No one ever eats the bony end of chops, so why not make good use of them in the Scotch broth? Cook the mutton bones with a sliced onion, stalk of celery, bay leaf, and salt. Cook slowly and a long time, then strain, re-heat, add a handful of pearl barley, a small carrot, finely diced, small white turnip, diced, and 2 tablespoons of quick cooking tapioca. Simmer until the vegetables are soft, add a teaspoon of minced parsley, season, and it's ready, the best broth you ever ate.

Who Cares if Prunes are Gone? Prune Conserve

Prunes from a gallon can of water-packed prunes

1 pound seedless raisins

Pulp of 4 oranges

Peeling of 1 orange, cut fine

1 No. 21-2 can pineapple, diced

Juice of 2 lemons

4 pounds sugar

1 pound broken walnut meats

—Contributed

The contributor did not intend to use water-packed commercial prunes, but I'm taking that liberty, since I had good luck myself. Mix all ingredients together after preparation, bring slowly to a boil and cook carefully until the conserves is thick and clear. Seal in hot clean jars.

A scant tablespoonful is worth 100 energy calories, so watch your step, you fat gals!

TODAY'S RECIPE

Meat Ball Stew

1 pound ground steak, hamburger or left-over roast

1 cup dry crumbs

1 tablespoon chopped onion

1 teaspoon salt

Pepper, paprika, mace, a little of each

1 clove garlic, minced

1 egg, beaten

1 can tomato soup, same quantity of water.

1 package cooked noodles

1-2 cup grated rather dry cheese

This is a recipe just made for emergency calls, whether it is unexpected guests coming for dinner, or just a budgeted dinner, and dinner for the family as usual. If cooked ground meat is to be used, include an extra egg to bind the balls securely.

Put the meat into a mixing bowl, add the various seasonings, crumbs and beaten egg. Get into it with your hands, for no lady-like mixing will answer here. After mixing thoroughly, form into small balls, drop into the boiling diluted soup, cover and simmer 1 hour for uncooked meat and 20 minutes for the balls made with cooked meat. More water may be needed for the longer cooking.

Have the noodles cooked and drained, arrange them as a border on the serving dish, pour the meat ball stew into the center and sprinkle all with the grated cheese. Serve with a crisp green salad and dessert. How about a pan of baked apples? You could do both apples and the stew in a medium oven very nicely. Make a panful of corn muffins as long as you are using the oven.

Thursday: Graham Bread Loaf, a perfect recipe for rolls (ice box) and a one-dish meal.

PLEASANT PLAN FOR PARENTS

Bring the children when you travel with us. We're old hands at watching and amusing them. In fact, to the kids, we're just a sea-going circus.

Our playroom, a sunny traveling kindergarten is stocked with all the equipment—blocks, games, blackboards, toys and, in attendance, a competent nurse with a motherly eye. There's an outdoor play deck, too. And if you wish we bring them down to their special dinner every night where they eat what you tell us to serve, and all the time they're laughing and having the time of their lives.

A pleasant plan for parents! For when we organize classes and parties for the children, we are thinking of you. We want you to be free to come and go on board—to read, to play, to rest just as you please. And this pleasant arrangement is just part of our quiet, personal interest in your comfort and complete peace-of-mind when you voyage Panama Pacific.

L. W. Schauer, legislative chairman of the P.T.A. gave a five-minute talk on three amendments to be voted upon at the November 6 election. He favored No. 11, stating that if the bill carries the board of education will be elected by the people and the board will appoint the state superintendent of schools and also favored No. 13 dealing with local option. He was opposed to No. 2 which he said, if carried would give the liquor interests more power.

Announcements were made by L. L. Dolg regarding a meeting to be held at the high school next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of forming adult educational classes in voice, commercial law and practical Spanish, and the meeting of November 15 at the Washington school auditorium, when Geoffrey Morgan, writer and lecturer of Santa Monica, will speak. SPEAKER TELLS IMPORTANCE OF TEMPERANCE EDUCATION; BROTHERHOOD IN ELECTION

LA HABRA, Oct. 24.—Declaring that the repeal of prohibition and the increasing disregard of laws in this country were due to the cessation of educational programs on the effects of liquor on the body and mind, Dr. Warren Menendhall, president of Whittier college, addressed the La Habra Methodist brotherhood Tuesday evening, speaking on "Temperance and Youth."

"The teaching received by our youth between the ages of 15 and 35 determines the kind of community they will make," he said. "At 15 years of age youth is just beginning to make its decisions, but after 20 years the youth of yesterday is the mature man or woman at the polls. The teachers in our schools have the youth of today where they get the results, and you should watch us and work with us."

"Children learn fast and especially fast by the impressions they gain from the older people. If we do not obey the laws, but laugh at getting by them undetected, the impression is very lasting on our children."

B. Z. McKinney, candidate for the office of district attorney, and S. B. Kaufman, incumbent, were speakers during the evening, each being allowed a brief time. McKinney stated that if elected he proposed to eliminate private practice in the district attorney's office; to reduce operating expenses in the office and to practice a vigorous policy of law enforcement in Orange county.

Kaufman was introduced by Judge A. C. Farley and based his fitness for the office on his past record.

The meeting of the brotherhood opened with a 6:30 o'clock dinner which was attended by 125 guests. At the short business session, the nominating committee reported and E. E. Wiede was elected president, Edgar Leutwiler, vice president, Boz Boise as secretary and I. Nicklin, treasurer.

DISCUSSION OF C. OF C. MERGER HELD OCT. 23

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 24.—Whether or not the Business Men's association and the chamber of commerce will be merged is highly problematical, members of both organizations stated today. A meeting will be held next Monday night at chamber of commerce headquarters to agree on a plan for presentation to the city council, providing for the city granting funds for chamber of commerce work.

The council at a recent meeting claimed that the membership enrolled in the chamber of commerce did not warrant or justify as large an appropriation as was asked from the city treasury. Mayor Talbert suggested that the chamber of commerce boosters get together with the members of the Business Men's association and bring to the council a new request for city funds in support of the civic work planned or agreed upon by both organizations.

It has since been suggested that the two organizations merge into one or become amalgamated at least as far as civic work is concerned. Members of the council say they have received considerable opposition in the form of protests against any heavy expenditure of tax funds under present economic conditions. The whole matter is expected to be threshed out Monday night.

Senator William Nathan Hale spoke on behalf of Governor Frank Merriam and George J. Hatfield, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor. In his speech he stated that Governor Merriam was a Christian man and did not "promise everything as those who promise the most do the least."

Upton Sinclair was represented by Mr. Porter who stated that "Sinclair is a man of the people who feels and sympathizes with them and will struggle with them. A man so close to the people is not far from God."

Sam Collins, representative to congress from the 19th district, told of his long residence in this county and of his activities in Washington.

In speaking for Ted Craig, assemblyman, H. A. Lake cited his record and declared that he ranked as a leader in the legislature. If 95 per cent of the people vote, it will clear up the present situation. Lake said, C. R. Allen, of Fullerton, opponent of Craig, announced he believed in the program to operate idle land and idle factories with idle men and stated the whole platform deals with people and their problems.

Don Wilkie, candidate for sheriff, gave a brief outline of his former work and urged the people to vote for the man they deemed best qualified to handle law enforcement, stating the fact that he would not stand for politics in the sheriff's office if elected to that position.

Sheriff Logan Jackson said that the grand jury had passed a favorable recommendation of his services and said that if re-elected he would continue to enforce the law.

County Recorder Justin Whitney stated that the recorder's office was fifth in the state in the volume of business handled last year and that his assistants were courteous and practiced economy. Harold Yost, candidate for the same office, spoke briefly, stating his object, if elected, is to save money, buy supplies in Orange county, be courteous, honest and impartial and employ men as well as women, giving preference to those with dependents.

B. Z. McKinney, candidate for district attorney, stressed the need of abolishing private practice in the office of the district attorney, and said he favored a program of vigorous law enforcement.

S. B. Kaufman, district attorney, declared that the public should choose its officers as a business man chooses his employees and that a man should be retained in the position as long as his work proved satisfactory.

Supervisor John C. Mitchell stated the need of adequate water supply and said that the county is nearing a solution of the water problem.

Elson G. Conrad, of Huntington Beach, his opponent, also talked on the importance of the water question. Short talks were given by E. D. Marion, constable of Anaheim township, and Sam L. Snodgrass, candidate for the same office.

Little Betty Lee McCullough, dressed in Chinese costume and cowboy outfits, gave several solos, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Virgil Sparks.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head and ear noises or are growing hard of hearing, go to McCoy's, Walgreen or your druggist and get 1 ounce of Earmin (double strength), and add to it 4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring a quick relief from the distressing head noises. Choked nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Adv.

THE UNKNOWN BLOND

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Who killed Tracy King, orchestra leader, found dead in his hotel apartment?

David Bannister, author, former newspaper reporter, undertakes to find out.

Among the suspects are an "unknown blond" who visited King before his death; Herman Scuirich, in jail and declaring his innocence, who wrote King a threatening letter; Joe Parrott, King's vaudeville partner, with whom he had had trouble; Melvina Hollister, middle-aged spinster who had quarreled with King after his act killed her canary.

The blond suspect is arrested. Bannister talks to her, but she refuses to tell where she came from or say anything about herself.

Denial King's fiancée, identifies her as the girl she saw talking to King the day before his death. The girl admits going to King's apartment to get some letters, but denies any knowledge of the murder.

Down town Bannister encounters Matthew Hollister.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXIV

Afterward Bannister was never quite sure what prompted him. He had a premonition—an instinctive warning of some sort—that what this little, insignificant looking man had to say might be important. Extremely important.

He looked about for a place where they might talk without interruption and saw behind them a restaurant. It was a restaurant where he had eaten once or twice—a place that was small, not overly well patronized and clean. At this time of day it was sure to be almost deserted.

Bannister turned and said, "Let's go some where where we can talk. How about this place?"

Matthew Hollister shook his head. "Oh no," he protested. "That's a restaurant. I had lunch there a long while ago. I couldn't eat anything now."

Bannister urged him forward. "Then have something to drink," he said. "Any how, I'm hungry. Come and talk to me while I eat."

Inside the restaurant they found places at a small table by the side wall. At the front of the long room two men were seated at the lunch counter. Otherwise Bannister and his companion were the only customers.

A girl in a green dress and white apron approached to take the order. "Cheese sandwich on ry: for me," Bannister instructed her. He looked across at Hollister. "What about you? Can't I persuade you to have at least a sandwich? And what will you have to drink?"

The little man's eyes brightened. It was obvious that this was an invitation. He looked about the room and some of the meanness that characterized him seemed to disappear.

RUTH BARTLETT TAKES UP LIP READING AGAIN

"Why Be Hard of Hearing?" will be the topic of tonight's broadcast by Miss Ruth Bartlett, instructor of Lip Reading in the Adult Education Department, Santa City Schools, from KREG at 8 o'clock.

"In response to many requests that something be said to those who are staying away from the lip reading classes and from the leagues and clubs for the hard of hearing because they haven't the courage to make a start, or because they think they are not very deaf, or because they haven't been any place for years and wouldn't know 'how to act,' or 'just because,' I am discussing this subject tonight," Miss Bartlett said.

"Several members of the class know other people who need help and have asked me to try to reach them through the kindness of KREG and to tell them they need not be hard of hearing all the time, that for a few hours each week we forget about our deafness and know what is going on in spite of it," she said.

ANOTHER CRIME STORY ON KREG THIS EVENING

"One Way Ride" titles tonight's broadcast of "Calling All Cars" from KREG at 8 o'clock, a presentation of the Rio Grande Oil Company and a dramatization of the true story of the arrest and conviction of a "racketeer murderer." Tonight's broadcast will also mark the return to the microphone of Chief Davis of the Los Angeles Police Department, and will feature Joan Marsh, screen star, who will play the part of "Christine," the gangster's moll.

Events growing out of the discovery of a bullet-riddled body on the Coast Highway near Oxnard, form the basis of tonight's drama. During the course of the police investigation into the mysterious slaying, suspicion is cast upon several innocent people before the patient police mechanism discovers that the crime is the far-reaching result of an Italian vendetta on New York's East Side. One of the suspects is convicted by the jury, while another is freed although there is no doubt in the minds of the police officers connected with the case that the acquitted man is as guilty as the convicted one, according to Chief Davis.

Chief Davis will recount some of the unusual aspects of the case and explain methods now being used to prevent crime in the future. "When we have compiled sufficient information in records now being tabulated, we will be on the scene of the crime before the criminals themselves," Chief Davis said.

An announcement of interest to young folks who wish to be members of the "Junior Police Force" will be made at the end of the broadcast.

"Calling All Cars" is broadcast from KREG each Wednesday at the same hour.

LAVERNE HARRELL ON KREG TONIGHT

Miss LaVerne Harrell, concert vocalist, will return to KREG after a week's absence at 6:15 tonight and will sing another program of numbers that have been requested.

Miss Harrell's program will include "Moon Dream Shore," "Lock Me," "I Hear You Calling Me," "Harford," "Marshall," "M. C. Cause," "I'm Jealous," "Godard," and "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," Jonson.

Adeline Cochems Harrell will accompany.

THANKS FOR THE RAIN

Scores of business managements in all parts of the country are merely waiting for some kind of signal that may reflect demand from the people for a return to sound government. Probably the most clever cut of the answers will come from the voters in our own state. This election will determine whether the efficiency in one of the most prosperous states in the Union is determined to expunge the established order or is ready to embrace a radical government. The answer is of the utmost importance to business and the temper of the people in California will clearly indicate the National trend.

PROPOSITION NUMBER THREE WOULD MAKE NEW PROVIS-ION FOR JUDGES

The constitutional amendment on the ballot, number three, provides for the appointment of judges by the governor.

While there are some other provisions in it that makes it appear the people really vote upon the question, in the last analysis this is not true, because no other candidate appears on the ballot, except the incumbent himself if he chooses to run, or if he doesn't choose to run, the man whom the governor selects.

The voters cannot select their own man. If they do not like the man whom the governor has nominated, it is possible to defeat him, but all the governor needs to do is to make another appointment, who serves until the next election, when the people might veto him and the governor appoint someone else.

This additional power, in the hands of the governor, raises the stake in the interest that privileged groups have in the selection of the governor himself. The governor has tremendous power now.

The appointments he has made in some counties, because of death or resignation, have not been such as to create a whole lot of faith in the wisdom and the justice of the governor's appointments. If we could conceive of a governor who was nonpartisan and whose campaign fund had no contribution from interests that were looking for favors in any direction, and the governor was primarily interested in the rights of all people, it would be possible that this might be a wise amendment.

But none of these things are true. The governorship is a partisan office and extremely so. The judges today are elected without partisanship. There have been Democratic judges elected in strong Republican counties and vice versa.

There might be some counties where there would be an improvement by this method, but taking it as a whole, we doubt if it would be true in the state. The amendment provides that the governor's appointee shall be approved by the chief justice of the supreme court, the presiding appellate court justice, and attorney general.

There are further provisions in the act that the amendment shall not apply to any county until after the voters shall vote that it shall apply to their respective counties under a certain act. This act is Number 14 on the ballot, which will be submitted to the voters of Orange county.

THE NEW DEAL WAITS UPON THE SUPREME COURT

The present session of the supreme court will probably decide once for all on the constitutionality of the New Deal. In the Minnesota moratorium case and in the New York milk case it has upheld by the narrow margin of five to four the state laws enacted under the New Deal. But there are other cases growing out of national laws upon which it still has to pass.

As constituted, the court is apt to look favorably upon the general policy of the New Deal legislation. But how much of it will hang on the emergency situation, which the court has recognized as a valid reason for New Deal legislation, is yet to be determined.

Congress itself has not yet put its stamp upon the permanency of the New Deal legislation. What the next Congress will do depends upon the election in November. If there is a hearty endorsement of the president's policies at that election, there is little doubt that much of the legislation which is now looked upon as only temporary will become permanent.

The supreme court is not indifferent to the sentiment of the electorate. The statement of the late Chief Justice White, quoted by the president in his last "fireside talk," may not be without some significance as to the future attitude of the court on all questions of legislation concerning which there may be some constitutional question.

"There is great danger," said the chief justice, "it seems to me, to arise from the constant habit which prevails where anything is opposed or objected to, of referring without rhyme or reason to the constitution as a means of preventing its accomplishment, thus creating the general impression that the constitution is but a barrier to progress instead of being the broad highway through which alone true progress may be enjoyed."

It can safely be assumed that the supreme court will keep close to the people's will when matters affecting the main well-being of the people are concerned. In the long run, in a democracy, nothing can withstand the people's will.

A momentary impulse of mob psychology should not be heeded. That a written constitution exists to prevent. But the people who made the constitution will always be free to change it.

JAPAN'S PROSPERITY BOOM

According to the October bulletin of the Foreign Policy association, Japan is having a great industrial boom. This boom is ascribed by some to three things: dumping, sweating and the depreciation of the yen. But an eminent authority disagrees with that statement.

Japan, says this authority, has concentrated on certain products in which it excels in efficiency, and some of which are much used by the people of China, India and the East Indies. The Japanese manufacturers have studied the potential markets of the world, and have gone in for the manufacture of those things which are called for in these markets.

Japan has studied the Latin-American market, and has now made great inroads over her competitors in that market. Cotton goods are much in demand in China, India, and the East Indies, and Japan has become the largest manufacturing center for cotton goods in the world. Japan is the leading country of the world in the culture of the silk worm and the manufacture of silk goods. Toys is another industry in which Japan excels.

There is, of course, something to be said in favor of the belief that long hours, low wages, and a low standard of living give Japan an advantage over the nations in which human conditions are more favorable. But the compiler of the Foreign Policy bulletin does not believe that alone explains the favorable industrial condition of Japan.

Japan has evidently concentrated on those things which are made by highly specialized machinery and those other things for the making of which her people have a certain aptitude. If this latter statement be true, it may be a good suggestion to pass it on to other countries. In most countries, there are favorable conditions for the manufacture of certain goods and the growing of certain crops.

Our own country, for example, has an ample supply of cotton. We are expert in building machinery. There is no reason why we should not be a successful competitor in the markets of the world for cotton goods.

There was a time when our shoe manufacturers, with highly skilled and highly paid workmen, controlled the markets of the world in shoes. There is no reason why we should not lead in that industry today.

There are many other features that enter into the manufacture of goods than hours of labor, wages and standards of living. Unless the nations of the world revert to a time when foreign trade was insignificant, it might be well to learn something from what Japan is doing.

It should not be overlooked, however, that the imports by Japan of raw material increased from 1235 million yens in 1931 to 1917 million yens in 1933. That certainly must have been of much benefit to Western exporters.

PROPOSITION NUMBER FOUR IM-PORTANT TO ORANGE COUNTY

Initiative Constitutional amendment granting extensive powers to the attorney-general will be on the ballot as No. 4. This provision makes the attorney-general the state's chief law officer and it provides he shall directly supervise district attorneys, sheriffs and other law enforcement officers.

He can prosecute with district attorney's powers; he can assist district attorneys when the public interest or the governor requires; his salary is increased, and made the same as that of the supreme court associate justice.

This is another measure which tends to remove the power from the people of the community over the control of their affairs and transfers it elsewhere in the state. One of the most difficult things for people to do is to fix responsibility upon any public official. "Buck-passing" is a particularly American pastime.

Should this be enacted, we would have to look to Sacramento for final authority. This is one of those peculiar provisions which probably wouldn't do such a community as San Francisco any harm, but it would standardize the law enforcement work of all counties and Orange county would be under the control of the same forces that would control the populous cities.

We believe it would be to the interest of the citizens of Orange county to protect their power, to fix responsibility and to have a better grade of law enforcement than is satisfactory to other sections of the state.

Dutch Into Netherland

New York Times

If the Dutch lose Holland, it is news. An order by the Ministry of Education at The Hague prohibits the use of the word "Dutch" by Hollanders expressing themselves in English. It is to be replaced by "Netherland." The Dutch East Indies are the Netherlands Indies. The purpose is to avert any foreign confusion between "Dutch" and "Deutsch" (German) to the disadvantage of the Netherland nation.

It will take time for English-speaking usage to lose the habit of that sturdy old Dutch name, if ever do. In any case, it will be an effort to think of the Netherlands under van Tromp sailing up the Thames with triumphant brooms at the masthead; or the Netherlands buying a certain island from the Indians for $24; or Motley's "Rise of the Netherland Republic;" or frank admiration declaring, "Don't it beat the Netherlands, or the Hollanders, or the Lowlanders?"

The more serious aspect is that a nation so closely related in blood to the German people should now find it a disadvantage in the world to be confused with the Germans. The Nazi race philosophers have succeeded in proving that Michelangelo and Socrates and Hammurabi and probably Confucius were Germanic; but the authentic Low Germans in the vicinity of Amsterdam and The Hague are apparently not so proud of the race connection—for the time being, at any rate.

Industry Leads in Safety As Highway
Deaths Rise

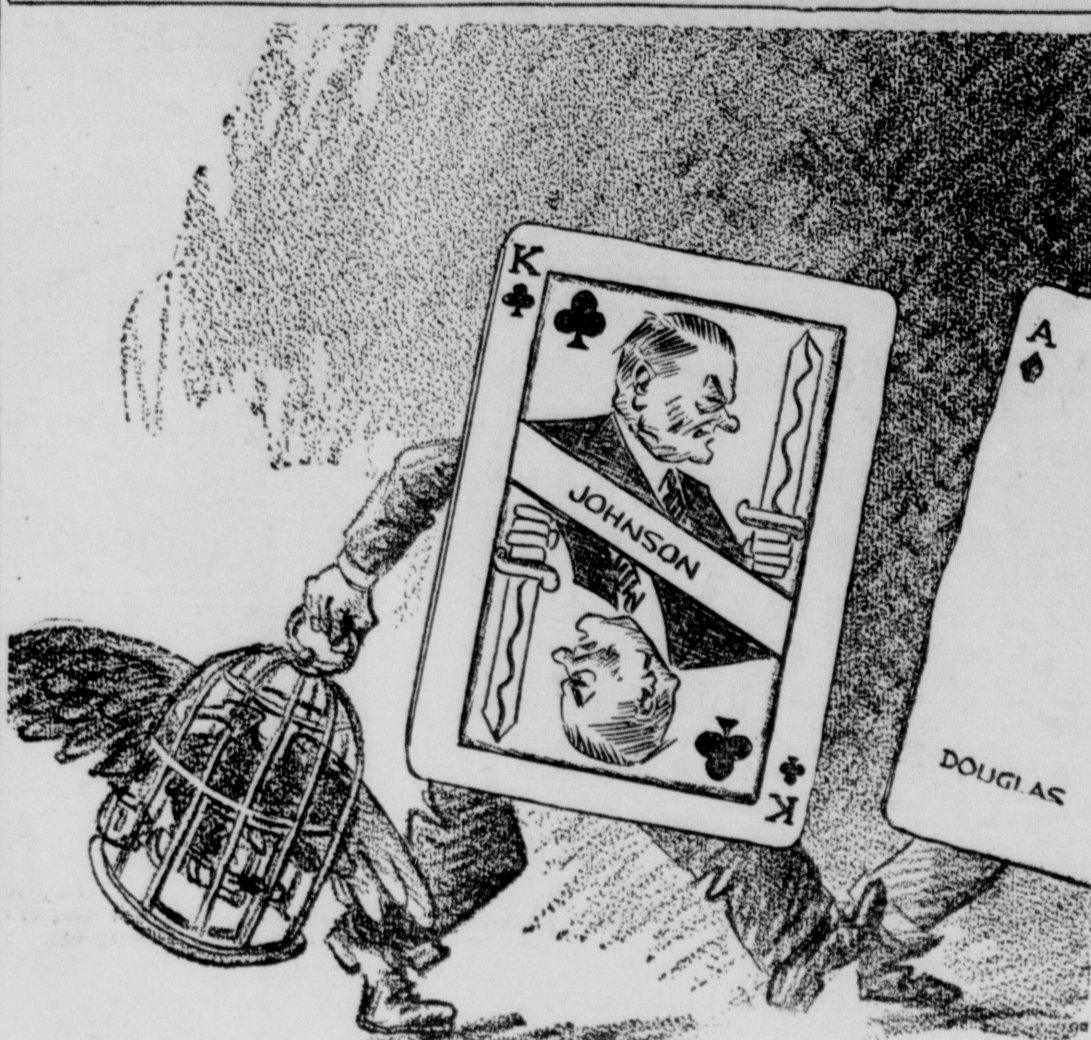

San Bernardino Sun

With the forecast of the Safety Congress that automobile accidents in the United States probably will reach a new high for 1934, it is reassuring to have the same body announce that accidents in industry have been greatly reduced in recent years.

Until a few years ago industrial accidents were in the lead. Then a real effort was made to eliminate them. Employers co-operated with workers. Safety devices were installed and safety education campaigns were conducted. Today, it is said, it is safer to go to work in a steel mill than to go motoring in city traffic. Operators of dangerous machinery in factories have to pass severe tests to prove competence or they are not allowed to use the machinery. But only a few states make the prospective motorist pass a similar fitness test.

The highway and the home need a lot more educational work before they will begin to show the fine results in safety already achieved in industry.

When you and I were urchins
Not very much we knew
Of Zululand
Or India's strand
Or far-off Timbuctu.
For what is known as learning
But little did we care,
Or blame or praise—
In those old days
We were not on the air.

But now when kids are foggy
Concerning Greece or Rome,
The least mistake
Which they may make
Is carried right straight home,
Where troubled, worried mothers
Are almost sure to say:
"How can you shirk
Your number work?
You failed again today."

Poor kids, their lives are burdens,
For all their kith and kin
By radio,
As well they know,
Are daily listening in.
They're certain to be censured
When they don't know their stuff.
In these stern days
Of tattling rays
Their life is pretty tough.

The man who wrote, "He who pays the fiddler has a right to call the tune," never lived in a boarding house.

And when the fox finds the geese protected by a fence, he probably thinks himself deprived of freedom.

The early settlers had more liberty. If the Indian had something they wanted, they could shoot him.

COMMON SENSE AND PRICES

The review and revision of the Administration's policy respecting the political manipulation of prices will loom larger and larger. At the very outset of the present effort to effect recovery through price manipulation, I advanced certain contentions in these articles which I want to restate today, because they are, as I see it, fundamental to the problem now confronting the NRA.

There is no public issue upon which, just now, there is, in my judgment, more loose thinking.

There is a great body of Americaners firmly convinced that a general rise in prices is vital to our full economic recovery, and that the slickest trick for reaching this end is a progressive depreciation of the currency.

I challenge the soundness of this contention. We should not try to raise all prices, but only those that have fallen disproportionately, such as farm prices. If we succeed in forcing a general lift in prices we shall but increase the cost of living for the millions—unless, of course, we force a greater general lift in income. And that does not seem imminently in the picture.

Any single device such as currency depreciation, if it succeeds at all, raises all prices. It does not produce a selective price rise. It simply is not possible to offset a general rise in living costs by dictating a rise in wages generally, unless concurrently policies make possible a vast forward thrust of business volume and the creation of new profits out of which to finance the increased labor charges.

And, even if we could by edict make wages keep pace with prices, there is no conceivable justification for thinking higher prices generally are desirable. Higher prices are, I repeat, desirable in those fields where prices have been jammed below the line of reason and minimum production costs. But otherwise sound social policy suggests lower prices wherever economically possible. Only so can sounder volume and sounder consumption standards prevail.

It is becoming daily more important that we examine proffered remedies in terms of their ultimate effect upon the day-to-day living habits and living standards of America's millions. (Copyright, 1934 McClure News'r Syn.)

THE TRUE STORY

It is always best to tell children the true story. If they are put off with an evasive answer or a fantastic tale they are going to learn, and that before long, that you are not to be trusted. That is a very unsafe relationship between children and grown-ups and one to be avoided simply by telling the truth.

Some questions are hard to answer, not because we do not know the right answers but because we have neither the grace nor the courage to tell the simple truth. When we find ourselves hemming and hawing the only thing to do is to say, "You've asked me an important question. Give me a little time to get the answer as near right as I can. I'll be ready in fifteen minutes, or so," and then get ready and tell the truth.

Answers about sex are not so hard if we fit them to the understanding and the present need of the child who inquires. When a very young child asks a question that concerns you because it touches upon preoccupation, just remember that he is not really interested in the life process. He is curious. Satisfy his curiosity. Give him an answer that is true and which satisfies him for the time. When he has assimilated that point he will come back. Such teaching is a long, gradual process. One quick answer never covers it. It is not just information that children ask for and need. It is a way of life, so take it by easy stages and be honest.

Sometimes children ask questions about the family concerns, and you dislike answering honestly because you do not want the child to tell the world. Children love to tell things, especially important things, because the importance is reflected upon them. One has to be somewhat guarded in these matters. But we can answer truthfully just the same. We can make the child feel that he has our respect and confidence and still not put too much responsibility upon him. We cannot make children responsible members of the family and keep treating them like strangers under suspicion. Gradually take them into confidence so that by the time they reach the place where they ought to be carrying a share of family responsibility they can do so. Strong children do not grow up overnight. Strength is acquired gradually by repeated experience.

Treating children consistently in such matters is highly important. Taking them into confidence one day and shooting them off the next is a poor way of establishing confidence. One confidence does not make a partner of your child. One today and another tomorrow, a steady, uninterrupted flow of communication is what does the work. The neighbors' attitudes have to be taken into consideration. If, for example, you give your small child a very full education in sex matters, if you inform him about babies and their coming, and give forth to proclaim his knowledge abroad in the land, you may find yourself a target for neighborhood criticism. If not reproach. Move carefully, but hold fast to the truth. The neighbors will cooperate with you once they learn that they can depend upon your sincerity. The truth will establish this sooner than evasions and fibs and fabrications will ever do. All people, children included, are inherently honest and respond to truth naturally.
